Hancock County omitted from Coast transit plan

By RICH ADAMS
Hancock County is being omitted from a barrier free bussing system for handicapped and elderly being proposed by the Gulf Regional Planning Commission and the Mississippi Coast Transportation Authority (MCTA) because a recent study revealed there is no demand for such transit services.

The GRPC conducted a meeting of media and governmental officials Monday in Gulfport, where Transportation Planner Stephen T. Higgins announced a '504 Transition Plan for the MCTA.'

The proposal was drafted in compliance with Section 504 of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA), which calls for "a system...that, when viewed in its entirety, is readily accessible to handicapped persons."

The GRPC is slating public hearings this month along the Gulf Coast to discuss this issue, and Higgins said he hopes to have a final plan to the UMTA by June 1 of this year.

GRPC proposes to remove all barriers from existing mass transit buses to allow accessibility to handicapped and elderly persons, including those confined to wheelchairs.

Among priorities the planning commission has proposed in a long-range plan is either 'acquisition of sufficient accessible vehicles by July 2, 1982,' or the 'interim' plan of purchasing eight vehicles which remove barriers to the handicapped by July 1, 1984.

Higgins said a citizens' advisory committee has been formed, composed of elderly and handicapped, to study the new proposals.

However, Higgins said Hancock County has been "left out" of the planning and use of the vehicles

Our Shopping Center expansion underway

By ELLIS CUEVAS

D. E. Wilcox, manager of Our Shopping Center, Ltd., in Waveland, reported the signing of a contract with contractor Roy Anderson, Inc., Gulfport, for an addition of 20,000 square feet to the TG&Y Family Center in the mall.

A contract was also signed with Anderson, the original contractor of Our Shopping Center in 1974, for a 6,000 square foot addition for National Supermarket.

TG&Y's addition will bring the Waveland Family Center to a total of 50,000 square feet, with a completion date of August 31, 1980, Wilcox said.

The National Supermarket addition will include bakery, delicatessen and floral departments. The bakery will do its own baking, according to Wilcox.

The area of enlargement for National will include the old Shoptown location in addition to 2,000 feet of unused building and should be completed by June 1981.

TG&Y opened in October, 1974 in Our Shopping Center with National opening in early 1975.

Our Shopping Center houses 18 tenants and the additions will bring the center's size to 125,000 square feet. There is 300,000 square feet of parking space for the establishments, Wilcox said.

'US-90 property needs water'

Bay mayor wants Beach Boulevard work delayed

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett reported at a Tuesday morning news conference he will ask city councilmen to postpone the scheduled widening of Beach Boulevard between Main and DeMontluzin Streets until the next fiscal year. Bennett said he will in turn ask that funds being considered for that project be used to run a six-inch water line along the north side of US-90, roughly from Main Street to Washington Street serving highway businesses.

The mayor also said he will request that parking on the west side of Beach Boulevard (from Main Street to DeMontluzin Street) be eliminated to widen Beach Boulevard for two-way traffic.

City Council President Peter Benvenuti said late Tuesday morning, "This is all new to me and I would not like to comment. I would like to talk to the mayor about it first."

However, Ward Two City Councilman James Thriffley said Tuesday afternoon, "I really don't see the point in what he's (the mayor) trying to do."

Bennett said, "I'm not trying to shoot someone's project down, but many people are not in favor of the beach road widening project."

"Thursday afternoon I will meet with the city council and ask them if they will postpone the widening project," Bennett stated.

The Thursday afternoon council meeting referred to by Bennett is apparently another of the council's regular weekly secret meetings commonly referred to as 'workshop

Precinct Democrats to caucus Saturday

Hancock County Democratic Precinct Caucuses will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday in the county's various voting places.

Purpose of the precinct caucus is to elect delegates to the Democratic County Convention which opens at 10 a.m. Saturday, March 22 at the Hancock County Courthouse.

Delegates must be divided evenly between males and females, according to Judge Joe Benvenuti, Hancock County Democratic Executive Committee chairman.

The number of delegates from each precinct allowed at the County Convention is based on a formula calling for two delegates for each vote allowed from the precinct, Benvenuti said.

The following formula is used to determine the number of votes allowed in a precinct, Benvenuti explained:

Up to 750 registered voters in the precinct - one vote; 751 to 1,250 voters - two votes; 1,251 to 1,750 voters - three votes; 1,751 to 2,250 voters - four votes; 2,251 to 2,750 voters - five votes; and

WILLIAM L. (LEE) DELCUZE, right, tells the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Superintendent J.D. McCulloch, his Secretary Norine Breland, and Board Member Walter Turcotte "religion must be reinstated in this school system or the system will fall apart." Delcuze asked the board Monday to become the "first school board in the nation to risk losing state and federal funds and go to jail" by reinstating religion in the classroom. ## Waveland 'preaching teacher' wants religion back in school

By RICH ADAMS

A former Waveland Elementary School teacher who was suspended Feb. 7 for expressing religious beliefs in the classroom told the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board Monday "unless religious teachings are returned to the classroom the school system will fall apart."

In his short presentation to the board, William L. (Lee) Delcuze pleaded for the board to "become the first in the nation to return religion to the classroom, even if it means the school district may lose federal and state allocations."

"I'll state my beliefs...my activities were in conjunction with a U.S. Supreme Court ruling which calls for all religion learned in public schools to be voluntary," Delcuze told the board.

"The problem, and I believe this from deep in my heart, is the school system has done nothing because it fears a lawsuit or legal action. I understand your fear, and it is unfortunate," the former teacher told the board.

Delcuze told the board to "look at the happenings around you," adding, "there are mentions of World War III."

"Anyone who turns away from God will suffer the consequences. God says in His word it is not what you say, but what you do," he continued.

"The net affect of your actions is that you are eliminating God from the classroom," he added.

Delcuze told the board he has received a number of telephone calls from parents in his support since he was suspended without pay on Feb. 7.

"Parents want Godly, Christian teachers teaching their children," Delcuze told the board.

"You are called to make a decision before God tonight. Our country was founded on rebellion against the king of England. If we would have obeyed the law 200 years ago, we would be British now," he continued. "I am rebelling for God. A house divided against itself cannot stand," he added.

"I fear it, but if we don't return religion to the classroom, this school system will fall apart," Delcuze told the board.

"God has moved me step-by-step in this matter. Find a way to return religion to the classroom, or it will be the end of this school system," he warned.

Waveland child survives second heart operation

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Leslie Rodrigue, just 10 years old, recently had her second open-heart operation replacing a pig's heart valve implanted four years ago.

The second Feb. 12 operation, performed by doctors at University Hospital of Mississippi Medical Center in Jackson, implanted a larger pig's heart valve in the small girl which will also be replaced in about five years.

"She pulled through this recent operation, but the doctors say her survival was a miracle," says Leslie's mother.

"Leslie got high blood pressure and fluid in her lungs after the Feb. 12 operation," Mrs. Marie Rodrigue reports.

"We thought she wouldn't make it and in fact, the doctors notified the family about 8:30 the next morning that she could die within 24 hours," Mrs. Rodrigue explains.

Mrs. Rodrigue credits Leslie's survival to a miracle.

No injuries in Bay train, car collision

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A 57-year-old Bay St. Louis woman apparently escaped injury about 4:15 p.m. Wednesday when the station wagon she was driving was struck on the right front bumper by a west-bound freight train at the Booker Street railroad crossing in Bay St. Louis.

Bay St. Louis Police Investigator Jim Mallini reported Mrs. Beryl Murtagh, wife of Hancock County Assessor-Tax Collector Edward Murtagh, was traveling west on Booker Street when the station wagon apparently stalled at the edge of the L&N Railroad tracks.

The engine of a west-bound freight train hit the extreme right front of her vehicle, causing an approximate $800 damage, police said.

"She attempted to back away from the oncoming train, but apparently her car would not start," Mallini said.

Mallini said although the train was traveling at a slow speed it took the long freight train about 200 yards to completely stop.

No charges have been filed pending completion of a Bay police investigation.

sessions' from which the city's citizens and the press are barred.

"The City Engineer James Chiniche estimates if we contract the widening project it will cost about $28,600 or $22,800 if the city is forced to do the work. I don't feel the city forces have the technical knowledge to handle the job," Bennett said.

"The $25,000 was not in the budget to begin with and the money would have to come out the general fund," the mayor added.

"I'm not asking the project be dropped, I'm just going to ask them to put it on next year's budget so we're not so strapped for funds," Bennett said.

The mayor said some local merchants and property owners had requested a US-90 water line be installed this fiscal year rather than the appropriate funds for the street widening project.

Thriffley stated, "The beach road project would only cost $16,000-$18,000 to complete using city labor which reduces the projected figure $5,000-$6,000."

"The beach project is planned in the budget... the highway water project is not in the budget," Thriffley added.

"Why should we worry about another project that has not been planned. The beach project has been planned for a year," Thriffley said.

"I think eliminating parking on the west side of Beach Boulevard would hurt merchants in the area considerably. I don't think any of the merchants will be in favor of it either," Thriffley added.

"Bennett said, 'I don't think this will hurt the businesses because there's plenty of parking space in the municipal parking lot and parking on the opposite side of the street.'"

"The main thing is the cost factor. If the problem on Beach Boulevard is that severe, the most economical thing to do would be to eliminate parking on the west side of the beach road and restripe the street. With labor and materials that would cost about $500," Bennett explained.

"There are 19 parking spaces on the beach side of the road and 14 on the other side," Bennett reported.

"Right now we have a lot of people interested in seeing the highway develop and I want to see the highway lighted also—$28,000 could put water on the north side of US-90 and the tax revenues from the development in this area would be well worth the investment," the mayor said.

"I think we should go ahead with water and sewerage. This thing on the beach we can live with longer," Bennett stated.

"It would cost $28,000 to put water on the north side of US-90 from Washington to Main Street. On Green Meadow Road there's a six inch water line we can tap to run to the highway," Bennett added.

Thriffley stated, "I think people on the highway are being misled to believe that water can be run for around $20,000. The water line from Old Spanish Trail to the housing project cost $10,000 with the city supplying all MIRACLE RECOVERY—Leslie Rodrigue, left, and Mrs. Marie Rodrigue of Waveland are all smiles after the young girl's recovery from open heart surgery. vival and remarkable recovery to Waveland Elementary and St. Clare's School children's prayers, the special Masses said by Rev. John Scanlon of St. Clare's Church, Leslie's surgeon Dr. Bobby J. Heath M.D. and all of the doctors at University Hospital.

The doctors of University Hospital know their business," Mrs. Rodrigue adds.

Leslie is the 16th Rodrigue child of a family of 17 children and Mrs. Rodrigue is separated from her husband.

"Leslie was born prematurely and weighed only two pounds at birth," Mrs. Rodrigue states.

Leslie is one of seven children now residing with Mrs. Rodrigue in a small two-bedroom, Sandy Street home in Waveland.

"We just can't find a better house, living on welfare money," Mrs. Rodrigue says.

"When Leslie was five and a half years old doctors discovered she had a leaky heart valve which had to be replaced," Mrs. Rodrigue reports.

"She had to miss her first year of school, at age six, after she had the first pig heart valve transplant," Mrs. Rodrigue says.

"The valve was supposed to last for five years, but this one only lasted four years," Mrs. Rodrigue explains.

Mrs. Rodrigue says she had no choice but to have the surgery because Leslie was getting sick quite often (a sign the valve was failing) and she would only have lived a year with the present valve.

Because of Leslie's deteriorating condition, in early February, doctors informed Mrs. Rodrigue that her daughter needed an immediate operation.

The Rodrigue's do not have an automobile so Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson and one of his deputies drove Mrs. Rodrigue and Leslie to the Jackson hospital for the operation.

"I would like to thank the Hancock County Sheriff's Department for driving us to Jackson; Chancery Clerk E. Michael Necaise; Waveland Elementary students and teachers for the over 300 letters they sent Leslie and donations they collected to help pay expenses; Dr. Sidney Chevish; Sam Pernicario; Dianne and Bobby Shelton; and Benny Brink for staying with my other children while we were gone," Mrs. Rodrigue said.

"The doctors think her heart was damaged during the Feb. 12 operation and she could have an enlarged heart," Mrs. Rodrigue states.

Leslie's mother has six pages of typed, double-spaced directions for post-operative instructions.

"These instructions tell me what to do if Leslie has any problems, but if her pulse goes way down we have to call Jackson immediately," Mrs. Rodrigue explains.

Mrs. Rodrigue proudly reports her daughter is an honor-roll student even though she started school a year late and will not be able to complete the fourth grade this year.

"Leslie's teachers are sending work home for her. She missed about two weeks while in the hospital and to recover from this operation she will not be able to attend school until next year," Mrs. Rodrigue says.

"My daughter has been in the hospital off and on for about the past seven years, usually she has to go to the hospital about once a month," Mrs. Rodrigue reports.

"Leslie has two more operations to go and in the last operation, when Leslie is 18, she will be able to get a permanent plastic heart valve," the Waveland mother says.

"This valve she just had transplanted will last maybe six or seven years," Mrs. Rodrigue adds.

"She has to get the pig valve transplants because she's growing. A plastic valve doesn't grow with her, but the pig valves have their limitations," Mrs. Rodrigue says.

Mrs. Rodrigue says the State Welfare Department has paid for her daughter's operations which the Waveland mother says she could not have afforded otherwise.

Leslie says she wants to be a nurse when she grows up.

The tiny 10 year old girl still has a long road ahead toward recovery and at any minute she might have to return to the hospital, but in the words of Rev. Scanlon, "The prayers of the little ones are the strongest."

Real Estate

REALTOR

INGREDIENTS FOR INVESTMENT

Housing prices have gone up steeply since the mid-60's for two basic reasons. First, the shortage of new savings made it difficult to finance private housing, and the number of new housing units built each year was far below that what it should have been. Since there is a steady growth in population, this puts pressure on our housing reserves and prices rise.

Second, there have been inflationary increases in the labor and materials costs that go into building a house. In most urban areas, land values continue to go up each year, too. Historically, real estate values have always increased faster than the cost of living. Thus, it is an excellent inflation hedge.

So here are the ready-made ingredients for a good investment. We all need housing of some kind, and according to the experts, the price of housing will continue to go even higher, though perhaps, not as dramatically as in the past few years.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at PRESSMAN REALTY, 1332 Hwy. 90 W., Waveland. Phone 467-2224. We're here to help!

Florida man charged in Bay vehicle arson

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis' report police arrested Walter Guy Bechman, 22, Pensacola, Fla. and charged him with three counts of arson and public drunk.

Chief Douglas Williams said, "Sunday night, March 9 at 11:18 p.m. the Bay St. Louis Police Department received a call that a bus was on fire behind Turan-Lane Chevrolet. Police and firemen, when arriving on the scene discovered two school buses and a trash trailer on fire with all three vehicles sustaining heavy damage."

In addition to Chief Williams, Frank Hess, asst. chief, Officers Louis Hearty and William Dorsey and Fire Chief Andrew Lizana investigated the fires. Bay St. Louis Investigator Jim Mallini after making consultations with those checking the fire, arrested Bechman and booked him at the Hancock County Jail and he is now under a $10,000 bond awaiting trial, according to Williams.

Q. As a family who does not watch much TV, we were very disappointed to read that "240 Robert" was canceled. It was one of the few shows we watched and enjoyed as good family entertainment. We realize that "ratings" is the name of the game, but what can ABC expect, putting "240 Robert" on against "Little House on the Prairie"? Could you give me the address I could write to ABC to protest the cancellation of "240 Robert" and to urge ABC to return it to the airwaves? — C.B.D., Cornwall-on-Hudson, N.Y.

A. You should direct your comments to ABC Network, 1300 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N.Y. 10019. You should be aware that it is highly unlikely that ABC will bring back "240 Robert." In the ratings department, "240 Robert" consistently placed in the bottom 10 programs of the Nielsen ratings.

Q. On the "Lou Grant" show, could you tell me the name of the song that is aired at the beginning? I think it is so pretty. — G.B.Niles, Ohio.

A. Like so many theme songs for television programs, the song you like is simply titled "The Theme Song for Lou Grant." The song has not been recorded.

Q. Is it true that Don Hastings, who plays Dr. Bob Hughes in "As the World Turns," also played in "McHale's Navy"? — H.B., Tampa, Fla.

A. His autobiography makes no mention of "McHale's Navy."

Q. Is Eric Scott, who plays Ben in "The Waltons," related to Wink Martindale, who hosts "Tic Tac Dough"? — S.J., Cortland, Ohio.

A. The two are not related.

Beware of the dog fighters!

We were shocked upon reading a story out of Harrison County this week on the arrest of a man for allegedly holding dog fights on his property.

It has also been distressing to come to a recent realization that there are some people in Hancock County who breed, raise and train dogs to engage in this barbaric activity.

We commend Sheriff Hobbs for his stand on not allowing dog fights to continue in Harrison County, and we are proud to find our own Sheriff Ronald Peterson is likewise opposed to such activities in Hancock County.

Members of the local Humane Society as well as many others have expressed a fear the crackdown on dog fights in Harrison County may cause persons engaging in that nauseating, so-called sport to seek out a location in Hancock County to continue their atrocities.

Peterson said he is unaware of any dog fighting at present in Hancock County, but warned he will take actions necessary to enforce the laws prohibiting such ludicrous behavior on the part of adults in 1980.

We still can't figure what type of person it is that could subject 'man's best friend' to torture.

Bits 'n pieces

There will be public hearing on the Gulf Coast Bikeway proposed by the Gulf Regional Planning Commission.

We have been hearing numerous comments on the bikeway proposal, the majority of which are against cutting the Bay St. Louis bridge to two lanes, one east and the other west for traffic.

Talking among ourselves is very good, but in order for our opinions to be heard by the proper officials, it will serve us best to attend the public hearing and express those feelings to the Gulf Regional folks.

The hearing will be next Thursday, March 20, at 6:30 p.m. at the City Hall in Bay St. Louis.

Roll out the walking shoes, flags and special St. Patrick's Day apparel for Saturday's annual parade.

The Waveland Civic Association's Parade will be held Saturday, March 15, starting at 2 p.m.

We are told this year's parade will be one of the best yet! Everyone can add an "O" to his name and become an unofficial Irishman for one day only.

The world situation as it is today has turned more than usual our attention on our Presidential Primaries.

We in Mississippi are just over our big election year, and it seems the momentum from it has been carried into the presidential elections.

The things which happen in Washington, or elsewhere in the world, are of grave importance to us all.

We should be concerned and I am happy to see so many of us are.

A date you may want to be sure is marked on your calendar is Thursday, March 20:

The quarterly Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's 'morning coffee' will be 7:15 a.m. at the Wheel Inn Restaurant. Guest speaker will be Commander Robert Shaw, USN, with information on the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

Cdr. Shaw, a resident of Bay St. Louis, is stationed at NSTL with the U.S. Navy and like others assigned in Hancock County, is a graduate of the superb military school.

We had a recent opportunity to visit the Naval Academy with a group of Mississippi educators with Cdr. Shaw as our guide.

We are sure you will be in for some interesting information on one of our nation's most important military training schools for young men and women.

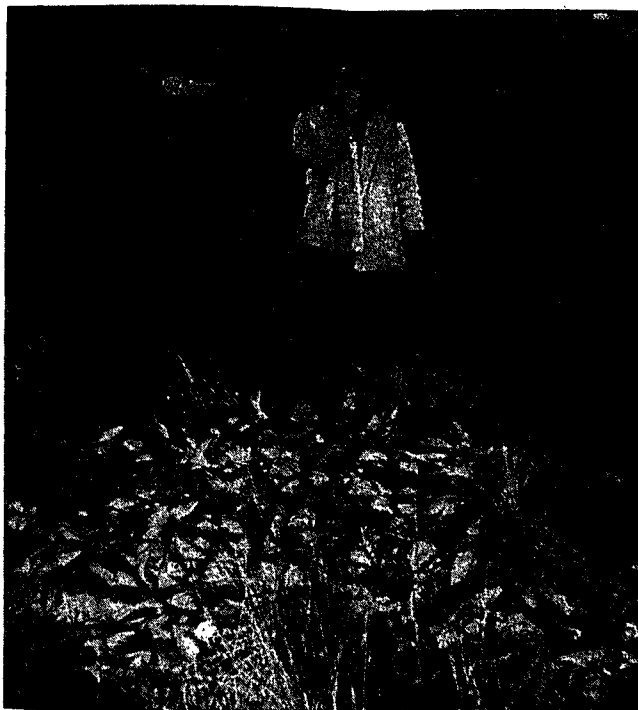

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's clean-up efforts have received some additional help this week from Hancock County Sheriff Ronnie Peterson.

Warren Carver, chairman of cleanup and beautification for the Chamber reports some of the county trustees are going to be used in cleaning up some real eye sores.

Peterson said he will work closely with the Chamber and use only prisoners who are non-violent. They will be wearing the new jumpers with Hancock County stenciled on back.

We are happy with the sheriff in his offer to help on such an important task, because we need the help of everyone possible. In conversation with the sheriff, he mentioned he has instructed his deputies to be on the lookout for persons violating the littering laws.

He mentioned the fine now is $100 for an offense. We need more officials like Sheriff Peterson getting on the so-called 'bandwagon' for a cleaner Hancock County.

HOLD YOUR NOSE! - You would have held your nose, too, if you had come close to this box of fish emptied along side of North Beach Boulevard. Michele Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Green of Cedar Point, views the mess someone left to disgrace our beach front. The county dump is North of Kiln, not along Beach Boulevard or any other street throughout our municipalities or county. We just wonder if people will ever become concerned about the terrible image we must make on folks who try to visit our beaches. We hope some of the guilty culprits will be ticketed and levied stiff fines.

Mother's grief revived

by Hwy. 603 deaths

March 10, 1980
Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,

I'm really writing this letter to all the people of our county and our state; also to our congressmen and representatives who can again read of the death of two more young people's lives that were taken in such a tragic manner.

I'm speaking of the young ladies that were killed on Highway 603 early Saturday morning.

It's never to say who was at fault, what does it matter now? Blame does not silence a mother's cry.

I'm speaking from the feelings of one who has gone through the trauma of losing one of life's most precious gifts; a child.

I lost my son in the August 10, 1979 accident on that same highway that took four others from their loved ones.

All of them had the promise of life before them on that treacherous roadway.

Will you or yours have to experience the loss of a loved one before you can write your congressmen, representatives, etc. to get some thing more than just some shoulders filled.

With our system of government, some of the responsibility for protecting lives lies on the elected officials that we vote into office.

Where are the monies that are allocated in our state and federal budget, is not even a small portion of it worth alleviating the cry of families that can still be heard?

Anyone who can vote in future elections, don't just cast your vote for a person, cast it for someone who can come from behind the desk and ride the death ride of Hwy. 603.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Doris Maurice
Bay St. Louis

Planning Commission attorney

elaborates on Diamondhead roads

March 12, 1980
Editor
Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

In a front page article which appeared in your February 21, 1980 issue, a headline stated that the Hancock County Planning Commission had found that most of the Diamondhead roads are "substandard."

I am writing this in an attempt to clear up any misunderstanding or misconceptions which might have arisen as a result of the headline and article.

The County Planning Commission did not make a finding that most of the Diamondhead roads are substandard. The Commission merely authorized a study to determine the present status of the roads, and I, on behalf of the Commission, presented the findings of the study to the Board of Supervisors.

The presentation was made for informational purposes only, and the Planning Commission did not recommend that the Board take any action on the findings of the study.

When I presented the study findings to the Board, Supervisor (James) Travirca asked me if the roads would be acceptable should the County be requested to take over their maintenance at this point in time.

In response to the question, I said that the study findings indicated that a majority of the roads would not be acceptable in their present condition. I would like to emphasize that I did not state that the study found a majority of the roads to be "inadequate." On the contrary, the majority of the roads in Diamondhead are "adequate" roads.

The fact that a road is unacceptable for maintenance by the County does not mean that the road is "substandard" or "inadequate."

The reason for this is that more stringent criteria are applied to determine acceptability for maintenance than are applied to determine adequacy of a road.

A road can be perfectly adequate and useable and yet not be acceptable for maintenance due to any number of defects or insufficiencies, many of which can be remedied by relatively minor repairs and/or patch work.

The reason why most of the roads in Diamondhead would be "unacceptable" for maintenance by the County is that normal wear and tear has resulted in a certain amount of deterioration of those roads.

This deterioration would have to be remedied before the County would accept them for maintenance. All roads deteriorate with the passage of time, and the fact that deterioration has occurred does not make a road "inadequate" or "substandard."

Yours truly,
JOHN A. SCAFIDE, JR.
Attorney, Hancock County Planning Commission

FOREIGN AID FIASCO

Washington Report

By REP. TRENT LOTT
5th District, Mississippi

The Somoza government of Nicaragua in Central America was overthrown in July, 1979, after bitter warfare. Taking charge was a group of Marxist-inspired and Cuban-backed Sandanista rebels.

Congress last week was considering a bill to pour another $75 million of U.S. foreign aid into the country. The legislation was requested by President Carter, although its specific purposes were unclear.

The aid was part of an $80 million package entitled the "Central American Assistance Act of 1979." But when I examined it more closely in the House Rules Committee, I was concerned at what I found.

This bill carried $75 million for Nicaragua and $5 million for Honduras, nothing for the countries of El Salvador and Guatemala. I wondered how it could be called assistance for all of Central America.

Central America is one of our nearest foreign neighbors and certainly U.S. policy in that region should be to help nations move toward democracy. In fact, the U.S. has pumped $60 million into Nicaragua and its staggering economy since the rebellion just eight months ago.

But this bill proposed to give another $75 million to a country with no tendencies toward democracy for its people, precious little freedom of the press and a variety of other problems contrary to basic human rights.

In addition, the people of the country have no idea, according to one Member of Congress who recently visited there, from where the money for redevelopment is coming. They think it comes from the Sandanista government.

Those who supported the aid package claimed Central American countries face major problems, including a growing population, unemployment, poverty, inflation and high energy costs. Some of those problems are familiar ones here at home, but, despite that, the supporters argued that the absence of more aid from the U.S. would hand anti-democratic forces in the region a victory by default.

Opponents of the aid package said it was an unwarranted gamble to assist the present leadership in Nicaragua, that the U.S. would be rewarding a Marxist-dominated government which came to power by revolution, and that the group in power has little attachment to human rights or democracy.

One of my major concerns was that the Sandanistas may be supporting similar revolutionary movements in Central America. We know those in power openly approve of Cuba's foreign forays, and I think that makes a mockery of U.S. aid.

I worked to defeat the legislation because I believe the American people are ready to say "NO" to too much foreign aid for too little return. In stead of helping Nicaragua, perhaps we should be doing more to preserve the more democratic governments in El Salvador, Honduras and Guatemala.

Sheriff commended on judicious

use of inmate labor

Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

During last summer's political campaign sheriff candidate Ronnie Peterson promised that if elected he would use prison inmates to clear litter and trash from areas within the county in need of such action.

Now Sheriff Peterson is making good on that promise and the public should be grateful to him for the wise use of that available labor.

It is our hope that the residents of those areas being cleaned will do everything possible to keep them from again becoming unattractive and cluttered with paper, bottles and other trash.

The Clean-Up and Beautification Committee of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce would like to say to Ronnie that we are grateful to him for his interest in the appearance of all areas of the county.

Sincerely,
Warren Carver

School board rejects daughter

because of mother's letter?

March 10, 1980
Letter To The Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Voters of Hancock County,

I am again nudging you. Take heed for future reference. Watch the action of your school board officials. For instance, in a recent Hancock County School Board Meeting I read that the board:

"Rejected a recommendation employing Nancy Bell as a Charles B. Murphy substitute teacher for the remainder of the 1979-80 school year. School Board Member Johnny Banks said Bell has stated there's too much nepotism on the school board and 'if she criticizes the school board I don't think she should be a part of it.'"

Well, Mr. Banks-what do you have to say for yourself? You voted to reject a recommendation to hire my daughter as a substitute teacher. Yes, you read right this time.

What an in-depth investigation you make before you vote on an issue! In studying the rejected application you must have neglected to note the age and experience of the applicant.

(However, my daughter and I do have the same name). Do you happen to vote against Ladners, Cuevas's or Banks also? No one would ever be hired in the Hancock County School System in that case.

I also take issue with you on the fact that your reason for rejecting "my" application was that "if she criticizes the school board I don't think she should be a part of it." Do you mean that only those people who go along with all the dictates of the school board should be hired or do you really mean "you're getting to close to my home when you criticize the hiring of relatives" as I did in my letter to the voters' of Hancock County several months ago?

What do you say voters? Look into the personnel at the Silver Creek School. Look into the personnel at Hancock North Central. Note the number of relatives of school board members hired in non-teaching positions in Hancock County and remember who they are and to whom they are related. You will have an opportunity to express your opinions when you vote come next election.

Also note whether those seeking positions on the school board are able to attend the school board meetings. You know, voters, the only officially required school board meeting is held the first Monday night of the month. Some of the school board members work nights and cannot attend this meeting; consequently, no action can be taken until a recess meeting is held to include the opinions of these boards working men. (Your tax money pays for these meetings).

I wonder why these men were chosen to represent you when they knew that their working schedules created a conflict of interest with their positions on the school board.

And, by the way Mr. Banks, no hard feelings about turning down the application of my daughter. I really think that she is working for an excellent school system in Louisiana and she is young yet and has a lot to learn.

Thanks so much for helping to educate her regarding school board politics in Hancock County.

Keeping looking, voters!
Sincerely,
Nancy Bell

2,751 to 3,250 voters, six votes.

Benvenuti said the following set of delegate election instructions has been issued to temporary precinct chairmen:

At 10 a.m. on March 15, precinct caucuses will be held at the regular voting precincts in the county. Each precinct will elect delegates to represent that precinct at the county convention to be held in each county on March 22, at 10 a.m. at the Courthouse in Bay St. Louis.

The temporary chairperson for the precinct should arrive at the precinct meeting place no later than 9 a.m. to make sure that the place is open and available. If no designated temporary chairperson is present by 10 a.m., a party member should stand up and announce promptly at that hour that he or she is calling the meeting to order as temporary chairperson.

If the designated temporary secretary is not present the temporary chairperson should then name one.

As soon as the meeting is called to order, the temporary chairperson should explain that the meeting is being held to elect delegates to the county convention. Each person present should be asked to sign a roster which says I am a registered voter in that precinct and I am a member of The Democratic Party and am not affiliated with any other Political Party.

After everyone has signed the roster, the temporary chairpersons should announce that the floor is open for nominations for permanent chairperson.

In this and every other election at the precinct and county convention level, persons can either be nominated by someone else or can declare their own candidacies. Once all nominations have been made, a secret ballot shall be held and a permanent chairperson, elected by the majority vote.

The same procedure shall then be followed for the election of a permanent secretary. The person elected permanent chairperson shall preside over the meeting. The permanent secretary shall take the minutes of the meeting and keep the roster after it has been signed. Only those on the roster will be permitted to vote.

At the precinct caucus, supporters of each of the various Democratic presidential candidates will gather in one group. Each group which has 15 percent or more of the total number of persons at the meeting shall be entitled to their proportionate share of the total number of delegates elected to the next meeting in the process.

The number of delegates who can be elected to share each precinct vote shall be either two or four as determined by each precinct caucus. Thus, for instance, where a precinct has four votes under the above formula, it will have at least 8 delegates sharing those 4 votes. No precinct shall have less than one vote represented by 2 delegates at the county convention.

After the elections, the secretary should fill in the names of the delegates and alternates on the credentials form. The chairperson should then entertain a motion to adjourn the meeting. After the meeting is adjourned, both should sign the minutes, which with the roster should be immediately delivered by the secretary to the chairman or secretary of the County Executive Committee. Each delegate should keep his own credentials form for presentation at the county convention on March 22.

The Civic Association reports in addition to its nine floats, Bay Scouts, Cub Scouts, Brownies, 25 children dressed as leprechauns, and a 150 member marching group from Mobile, Alabama will participate in the annual march through the city.

The parade will travel from its starting point down Central Avenue to Coleman Avenue, turn down Coleman and pass Waveland City Hall, swing east on Beach Boulevard to Lafitte Avenue, travel north to Central Avenue, turn west to St. Joseph Avenue, where it will end its trek.

Archie Diebold, secretary of the civic association and this year's parade chairman, said a quartet of St. Stanislaus students will be singing at the reviewing stand near City Hall under the direction of Brother Pierre.

This year's grand marshal for the parade is Thomas O'Brien of Waveland, and the coleen is Lauren Burns, also of Waveland.

The grand marshal and coleen were selected at a St. Patrick's Day Ball conducted last Saturday in the Waveland American Legion Post.

Members of the court include Gena Randolph, Lynn Burns, Lenora Kelly, Mary Garcia, Mary Beth Parker, Diane Carr, Angela Ladner, Lisa Carr, Kaye Peterson, and Karen Fayard.

because "local governments (in Hancock County) are not interested in matching funds to have the service started there."

Higgins explained there are agencies such as the Hancock County Senior Citizens, the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, and other agencies for the aged which provide door-to-door transportation for the elderly and handicapped of Hancock County.

He added that a survey of Hancock County residents who would be eligible to use the services revealed "90 percent of those responding indicated they currently have no transportation problem, although many of the respondents said they depend on others for transportation."

Hancock County Chancery Court Clerk E. Michael Necaise said Tuesday his feelings about mass transit concurs with those of the survey.

"We already have these services in Hancock County which offers these people access to local merchants," Necaise said Tuesday.

"The Board of Supervisors passed a resolution to see how great the need is in Hancock County for this service, and that study indicated 90 percent of those asked said they have other transportation readily available," he continued.

"If the senior citizens need medicine, the agency buses will take them to the hospital, doctor, or drug store, whatever they need. This proposed mass transit system could not benefit the county," Necaise said.

Included in the GRPC proposal is the extension of the Pass Christian route into Bay St. Louis twice a day to carry passengers to Edgewater Plaza Mall in Biloxi.

"In my opinion, this service is already well provided in Hancock County and it is not feasible to spend double tax money just to go to a Harrison County mall when we can get comparable products here," Necaise added.

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett said the present local agencies are doing a "bang-up job" on transportation of elderly and handicapped, but added he is attending a public hearing at the Gulfport Holiday Inn

Friday because "I have some questions to ask."

Waveland Mayor John Longo was not available for comment Wednesday.

A public hearing to which this issue will be discussed is scheduled March 20 at 6:30 p.m. at the City-County Library in Bay St. Louis.

Welcome Center greets 12,198 in first month

The new Hancock County Welcome Center at the intersection of I-10 and Hwy. 607 reports in its first month of operation from February 1 to 29, that some 12,198 visitors stopped by for information.

The Hospitality Center reported visitors from over 20 foreign countries as well as every state in the union.

"Since the center is the only one in the state that gets interstate traffic from two directions, and the official tourist season has not yet begun, this busy schedule is bound to get ever more hectic," said Lillian Dillard, center director.

"If you have not yet visited the Center you should by all means do so," Ms. Dillard added.

Noonan retells allegations in North Bay school suit

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is a continuation of a report on North Bay Parent-Teacher Organization President Lana Noonan's deposition filed last week in U.S. District Court in Biloxi in connection with a $20,000 damage suit.)

By RICH ADAMS

Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board Attorney Lucien Gex questioned North Bay Parent-Teacher Organization President Lana Noonan in regards to a statement she made asking the board to "be more open with the public."

"...What matters did you consider...the Board was not being open with the public on," Gex asked.

"Well, the fact that I had kept wondering actually about this budget meeting that I had been told about, and that I had never heard the budget discussed, and I was still kind of in limbo about this," Noonan replied.

Noonan then explained she had discussed the possibility of getting air conditioning at North Bay Elementary through state and federal funding, and Superintendent of Schools J.D. McCullough allegedly told her the Educational Finance Commission did not allocate money for that purpose.

Noonan then testified she contacted an EFC official, who told her the school could not be considered for EFC funding for that purpose because trailers are being used as temporary classrooms.

"...You don't know, of your own knowledge, that Mr. McCullough had that information at the time you discussed it with him," Gex asked Noonan.

"No," Noonan replied. Noonan was questioned about allegations she made that McCullough had intimidated her and other parents while in his office.

Noonan related one incident when she and Judy McCormick were in the superintendent's office to pick up school documents.

"...McCullough told us that he wanted us to understand one thing from the beginning, that he did not work for any damn PTO, in relation to the question, 'Are the claim dockets ready,'" Noonan said.

"Do you feel that the statement by him intimidated you in any way," Gex asked.

"Yes...because I feel like it was very intimidating to be treated in that manner when we are simply coming to ask for copies that we are offering to pay for completely, or do the labor or the work to make. I don't feel that is any way for the Superintendent of Education to treat the public when they come into his office," Noonan replied.

"After that statement, did you...continue your discussion with Mr. McCullough? Were you not so intimidated that you left," Gex asked.

"...While we may be intimidated we are not going to be intimidated to the point that we will not strive to make every effort to continue our work..." Noonan responded.

"You heard Mrs. McCormick tell Mr. McCullough that he is paid with tax dollars and that he worked for her as a taxpayer," Gex asked.

"She said...I feel as a taxpayer you do work for me," Noonan said.

"And at that point he went over, and you're stating here that he put his hand on your shoulder..." Gex queried.

"Yes, for what he said in answer to her question was 'I'm very glad you asked that question because I have wanted to get that settled for a long time. I do not work for you or the taxpayers of Bay St. Louis. My checks come from the State of Mississippi.' Then...she (McCormick) said, 'Well, we pay state taxes too and I don't feel there's any difference there,'" Noonan stated.

"He did come over to me and said...I smiled when he said it, and he told me not to smile, and he put his hand on my shoulder like this, and he said 'I know this lady and I know her family.' And at that point I asked Mr. McCullough to please not put his finger in my face and if he would please calm down..." Noonan continued.

"...You're not attempting to infer Mr. McCullough was attempting to do physical harm to you, are you," Gex asked.

"I doubt that Mr. McCullough would have done physical harm to me," Noonan replied.

"I didn't think it was a gesture of friendship," she added.

Noonan continued to testify that McCullough allegedly said, "I can say any damn thing I want today. In fact, I don't give a damn what I say, because you don't have your friends from the newspapers here to write down everything I say."

"In what way was that intimidating to you," Gex asked.

"Because I didn't feel like, as a parent coming into the school system to request information about how my tax dollars were spent...I should have been met with that kind of a presentation from the Superintendent..." Noonan said.

"My question is, while this alleged kind of conversation may not have been a nice thing to do, in what way were you intimidated by it," Gex asked.

"I was intimidated because he was very rude to me, and he intimidated me and made us feel very uncomfortable..." Noonan said.

"...It certainly did not make it any easier for us (the PTO) to feel welcome. It did not foster a friendship between us or make us feel like we were a part of the School System and could take an active part," she added.

Noonan referred to another meeting with the superintendent, this time with Noonan and PTO Secretary Gloria Holland, in which the two ladies were allegedly intimidated.

McCullough allegedly told the pair they could not talk to him together, and supposedly insisted they enter his office at separate times.

"I don't know of any reason why he wouldn't want to speak to more than one citizen at a time," Noonan told Gex.

"Do you contend...that is threatening or intimidating to you or any member of the PTO," Gex asked.

"It has been, when Mr. McCullough has spoken to us on a one-to-one basis..." Noonan said.

Noonan allegedly asked McCullough to admit he had intimidated Holland after the superintendent had discussed matters with Holland alone in his office.

"I asked him to admit he had questioned Mrs. Holland several times during the conversation about where her husband worked...He said that he did," Noonan said.

"Did you tell him that you...felt this was intimidating," Gex asked.

"We did, and I also further asked him to please show me the significance of that coming up several times in the conversation...I saw no relation to (Mr. Holland's) job and the Student Activity Funds," Noonan answered.

"Would you tell me how you feel that is intimidating," Gex queried.

"...When we were trying to take an active part...in the School System where our children were being educated, we were always met with questions...which had absolutely nothing to do with the execution of the business of the School System," Noonan replied.

"Do you have any evidence of any kind that Mr. McCullough, or any member of the School Board, attempted to adversely affect the employment of Mr. Holland in any way," Gex asked.

"I have no evidence of that. Our allegation is intimidation when she visited his office that day," Noonan replied.

Gex then asked Noonan about her cousin, J.E. Loiacano, a former coach in the school system.

"Is (Anthony Loiacano) a member of North Bay Elementary PTO," Gex asked.

"No sir," Noonan replied.

"Have you discussed your problems with Mr. McCullough with (Loiacano)," Gex questioned.

"I would say yes," Noonan answered.

"Isn't it a fact that Mr. Loiacano's brother was previously employed in the School System as a coach," Gex asked.

"Isn't it a fact that there was some problem between Mr. Loiacano's brother and the School System," the attorney added.

Plaintiffs' Attorney Gerald Blessey objected to the question, claiming it was irrelevant and immaterial, but told Noonan to answer.

"I was not aware of any trouble with Mr. Loiacano's brother and the School Board," Noonan said.

"Have you ever heard Mr. Loiacano express any bitterness about the way his brother was treated," Gex asked.

Again Blessey objected, for the same reasons, but allowed Noonan to answer.

"I have heard Mr. Loiacano express that it was sad to him that his brother chose to leave the School System and move to another town and now to another part of the state," Noonan responded.

"Have you ever heard Anthony Loiacano blame Mr. McCullough for his brother's leaving the School System," Gex asked.

"No," Noonan said.

"Have you ever heard Mr. Loiacano say anything uncomplimentary about Mr. McCullough," Gex queried.

Blessey objected to the question, stating the answer would represent a conclusion on Noonan's part, but allowed Noonan to answer.

"Yes," she said.

"Have you ever heard Mr. Loiacano say he is going to get Mr. McCullough, or words to that effect," Gex questioned.

"No. Mr. Loiacano has never indicated to me that he wanted to get anyone in the School System," Noonan stated.

Six other depositions taken from other plaintiffs are expected to be filed with the U.S. District Court Clerk in Biloxi this month.

The hearing, presided over by U.S. Magistrate John Roper, is tentatively slated in April, sources indicate.

Roper was named to hear the case following the recusal of Judge Dan M. Russell Jr., who said he could not hear the case because of his association with the school board when he was city attorney here.

Board purchases stereo for band

By RICH ADAMS

Purchase of a $1,560 stereo receiver, turntable, and speakers for use by the Bay High Tiger Band was approved Monday by the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board.

Following Monday's meeting Superintendent J.D. McCullough said he had discussed the stereo with Band Director Glen Page, but did not recall why the band needed the equipment.

Wednesday Page said he will use the receiver and turntable in connection with a recorder already owned by the school district to record the band and play records of musical compositions the band is learning.

"I have got records from other bands which we can play when learning a new piece of music. It will help with sectional rehearsals," Page said.

Monday night the board accepted the bids from Mississippi Music in Edgewater Plaza Mall, Biloxi, for the stereo and a trombone.

Mississippi Music's bid of $575 on a Conn trombone was the lowest of three. Other bids were from Mississippi Music in Piquette, which bid $600, and Harrington Piano Company, Laurel, which bid $630.

Mississippi Music of Biloxi bid $540 on a Kenwood receiver, $210 on a Kenwood

Planning official hedges on bridge-bikeway design

By RICH ADAMS

A proposal to narrow the US-90 Bay St. Louis automobile bridge to two lanes and convert the other two lanes into a bicycle route and pedestrian right-of-way was described Tuesday as a "initial plan" by an official of the Gulf Regional Planning Commission.

Stephen T. Higgins, a transportation planner with the GRPC, told public officials and news media Tuesday the commission has not extensively studied any proposal to convert half the bridge into a bicycle route.

The statement came during a meeting of GRPC members and public officials in Gulfport, a preparatory meeting for the officials before public hearings slated on the subject later this month and in April.

Higgins said, however, that the GRPC cannot see any need for four-lanes over the bridge despite increased industrial and recreational development in Hancock County.

"No developments, including the Wave Pool at Buccaneer Park, demands a four-lane bridge with a four-foot divider," Higgins said Tuesday.

He explained that travel to the recently completed DuPont Plant in Delisle is mostly made on I-10, adding that workers traveling to the U.S. Army Ammunition Plant currently under construction at the National Space Technology Laboratories near Bay St. Louis will be mostly on I-10.

Initial notification of the GRPC plans to convert the four-lane bridge into a two-lane structure came as a letter to Jerry Benigno, executive secretary of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

In the letter, dated Dec. 20, 1979, Higgins requests "...the Chamber's comment on a proposed change in (the bridge) design."

"The staff estimates that substantial public benefits could be derived at virtually no public cost by converting the outer lane on either side of the bridge into a shoulder and a bikeway," the letter continues.

"The volume of traffic currently traversing the bridge (9,510 vehicles per day, both directions) would be well served by a bridge of this design: two 12-foot travel lanes, eight-foot shoulders on either side, four-foot class I bikeway and sidewalk," Higgins states in the letter.

"This design would allow for an hourly traffic of 140 vehicles, or approximately 12,000 vehicles per day," the letter reads.

Higgins said Tuesday no major plans have been made concerning the bridge, adding the initial plans were "just an initial look."

No elected or appointed officials from Hancock County were present at Tuesday's presentation.

The bridge plan is part of a proposal by the GRPC to designate some 27 miles of roads and right-of-ways in Hancock County as bicycle routes, in addition to some 158 additional miles of proposed bicycle routes in Pass Christian, Gulfport, Biloxi, Long Beach, Ocean Springs, and Moss Point.

Higgins said his agency is trying to rally local support for the bikeways, which could be constructed partially with funds from the State Highway Department and Department of Transportation.

The main obstacle, Higgins conceded, is getting taxpayers to spend the money needed and donate property to construct the bikeways.

"The people who want this must convince elected officials that this is what they want," Higgins explained. There are three types of bikeways which could be constructed, according to Higgins.

A Class I bikeway is a paved path eight-feet wide separated from motorized vehicle traffic and specifically for bicycles only.

A Class II bikeway is a four-foot area on designated roads separated from traffic by a pre-cast concrete curb or striping.

A Class III bikeway provides no separation from automobile traffic, but signs are erected to designate the bikeway. Higgins said the reason for classifying a Class III bikeway is for safety awareness only.

Two plans are currently under consideration for the proposed bikeways, and after public hearings, the plans will be consolidated into one master plan, according to Higgins.

Plan 'A' for Waveland, designed by consulting engineers for GRPC, calls for a short-range expenditure of $74,200 for 11 Class II and III bikeways.

Only $18,550 of that amount would be local funds, the rest coming from state and federal highway programs, Higgins said.

The long-range phase of Plan 'A' calls for construction of a Class I bikeway nine-tenths of a mile long from Waveland Avenue to St. Joseph Street adjacent to the L&N Railroad tracks, the total cost of that project estimated to be $40,500, with a local share of $10,125.

Plan 'B,' formulated by the GRPC staff, calls for short-range expenditures of $35,000 for 13 mostly Class III routes, the local cost of that proposal being $8,750.

Phase II adds 6 Class II and III bikeways, costing a total of $185,200 overall, $46,300 locally.

The engineers' plan for Bay St. Louis calls for short-term construction of 17 Class II and III bikeways, costing $184,000 overall with a local expenditure of $46,000.

There is no long-range plan to add any new bikeways to the city after initial implementation of Phase I.

The GRPC plan calls for construction of 11 Class III bicycle routes at a total cost of $23,800, a local expenditure of $5,950.

The long-range proposal calls for six Class II bike routes and one Class I bikeway, which will run along the L&N Row from Washington Street to Beach Boulevard, primarily for use of school children to and from school.

The cost of the second phase is estimated at $151,000, local costs estimated at $37,950.

A public hearing concerning the bicycle routes and a handicapped-elderly bus route will be conducted March 20 in the Bay St. Louis City-County Library on US-90 at 6:30 p.m.

Bay police arrest three in burglaries

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Two adults and one juvenile are being held for the alleged breaking and entering and larceny and one count of destroying private property at four US-90 businesses late last week, Bay police report.

Bay Chief Douglas Williams said the California Concept, Scaffidi's Wheel Inn, Super Rich Donut Shop and the Flower Shop in Colonial Flower Shop were all entered and ransacked and small amounts of cash missing from all on Mar. 6 and 7th.

A police report states that the three suspects were taken into custody and questioned Saturday morning but were released for insufficient evidence.

Police received permission from the owner of the Driftwood Motel to search one of the rooms and the surrounding areas, Williams said.

Officers Mat Karl and Gordon Campbell were able to link evidence with the previous subjects who had boarded a bus headed to Mobile police say.

Investigator Jim Mallini said a telephone call to the Mobile Police Department had them detain the three subjects at the bus terminal.

Michael Craig, 19, Mobile, Ala.; Joel Woods, 19, Columbia, Md., and a juvenile are charged with the alleged breaking and entering.

Craig and Woods are being held in the Hancock County Jail under a $10,000 bond, according to police, and the juvenile has been turned over to Hancock County Youth Court. All await trial.

Delcuze.....

Nowhere in his presentation did Delcuze request reinstatement to his teaching position.

Board Member James Ginn told the board he "agrees 100 percent" with the former teacher.

"We are all afraid of our tax dollars being taken away. We have the responsibility, but if we were to defend a return of religion to the classroom (in court), we would have to use the taxpayers' money," Ginn said.

"I would like to charge the board with this responsibility. Go to the attorney and ask how we can bring voluntary religion back into the classroom," Ginn continued.

"I don't believe religion should be forced because Jesus Christ never forced Himself on anybody," Ginn explained.

"I believe we should return to the 'In God We Trust' principals this nation was founded on. I am in full agreement with Mr. Delcuze, but if it will cost the taxpayer ten cents, we cannot do it," he added.

"My plea to the board is to bring Christ back into the classroom. We can teach communism, socialism, voodooism, any kind of 'ism,' but we cannot advocate religion in the classroom. If there was any purpose for which I was called to the school board, this is it," Ginn said.

Delcuze and his wife met Ginn's statement by whispering "praise God." "Morality is the big issue. You cannot teach morals without Christ," Ginn concluded.

Delcuze, his wife and another couple responded with a loud "Amen."

Board Member Maurice Singleton then told Delcuze the "board's hands are tied."

"All of this sounds well and good, and I am a Christian myself. I want Christ back in the classroom, but how can we get around the law as it is now," Singleton asked.

Board Attorney Lucien Gex said "any establishment of religion in the classroom has been ruled violation of separation of church and state."

"Every time a school finds a way which goes around the Supreme Court ruling, the Supreme Court strikes it down," Gex said.

"If we teach the Bible as pure history, we could get by until we are attacked. A minority of people are opposed to their children being exposed to religion in the classroom," Gex continued.

"We are dealing with a restriction of funds, and a large number of people will be affected," the attorney added.

Ginn suggested the board request an opinion from the Attorney General to see how the school system may get around the no-religion ruling.

Delcuze told the board a teacher at Hancock North Central is teaching the Bible in that school three hours a day. Singleton said perhaps HNC has not received a complaint about the Bible class.

"I could steal all day and if nobody reported me it would be okay. If somebody complained, I would go to jail. Complaints from parents are our problem," Singleton told Delcuze.

Delcuze then requested the board take drastic steps to reinstate religion in the classroom.

"You have the opportunity to be the first and take the lead (in reinstating religious classes). You may have to be the first to go to jail and lose funds over the matter, but if you give in it is an example of false faith," Delcuze said.

Ginn said "if the people of the community are willing to go with this, I would be willing to lose my job on this board. But I cannot speak for the taxpayers of Bay St. Louis."

Singleton also said he is willing to lose his job because of support for the issue, but added, "I cannot help close down this system because of your request and deprive our children of an education."

Board Member Walter Turcotte moved that the superintendent and attorney contact Hancock North Central and find out if that school is conducting Bible classes.

"It is time for us to take a stand, but I am here with mixed emotions," Turcotte said.

Gex told the board a determination of Delcuze's teaching status had not been finalized, explaining to Delcuze he has the right to a formal appeal of his suspension at a public hearing before the board.

Delcuze said he understands his right to appeal and added, "I was fired. I understand."

Ginn seconded Turcotte's motion and the board unanimously authorized the superintendent and attorney to contact HNC.

Faculty evaluation system planned at PRC in September

Pearl River Junior College will begin its 1980 fall semester with a new system of evaluating the faculty and administration, according to

Enoch Seal, academic dean. The system had its start at the University of Southern Mississippi where it was developed by the university's education department, he said. USM's program of evaluation served as the model for the system to be established at PRC.

The discussion to develop such a program on campus was reached two years ago and has been in the making ever since.

The administration, the academic and vocational faculty, and a representative of the student body met at that time and decided how the program should be structured.

Under the system, the faculty and administration will be evaluated by the head of each department and the president of the college.

The academic faculty will evaluate the academic dean. Instructors will be evaluated by students once a year, with half of the faculty being evaluated during the fall semester and half during the spring semester.

Students attitudes under study

Pearl River College, along with 14 other junior colleges is doing an in-depth study on several facets of students attending PRC.

This study is the MSIS (Mississippi Student Information System). Through this program, PRC will get a clear picture of the student body as it is and how it relates back to other junior colleges percentage wise. It will also reveal how students feel about PRC.

At registration, students fill out a card that is part of the program. The information a student gives on the card tells what a student's intentions are when he enters.

If a student is enrolled, he becomes involved in other surveys. Students who stop going to class are sent letters asking why they quit.

If a student withdraws or she is sent one of two withdrawal forms. One form is sent if a student withdraws from a class. It reveals why a student drops a class, and if there were any problems.

The other form is a school withdrawal form sent if a student withdraws from school altogether.

Other surveys include one given to non-returning students to find out reasons why they did not come back.

Jobs for Women seminar slated

Job Opportunities for Women will be the topic of a day-long workshop at USM Gulf Park March 22. The workshop, funded by the National Science Foundation, is open to all women who are interested in seeking employment. A free lunch will be provided.

The purpose of the workshop is to acquaint women with the many career opportunities available to them," said Dr. Ruth Cade, director.

Cade, an associate professor at USM said, "The morning will begin at 8:30 with a review of job openings in the Gulf Coast area."

The Mississippi Employment Service and the USM Placement Bureau will familiarize participants with current job openings and how to apply.

The afternoon session will be devoted to explaining ways in which women can get the skills and training necessary for job openings which interest them.

Information will be provided on such topics as "How to Obtain a High School Diploma," "Educational Opportunities at Area Junior Colleges," and "Educational Opportunities at USM."

While the workshop will focus on scientific and technical careers, information on all kinds of jobs will be provided.

A highlight of the workshop will be a panel discussion dealing with the many problems faced by working women: how to work and have a family; how to deal with discrimination against women; how to deal with sex harassment on the job; child care; and how to obtain job training.

All women who live in the Coast area are invited to attend. There is no charge for the workshop.

Interested women should,

however, register in advance so that a place may be reserved for them at the workshop, by contacting the Department of Conferences and Workshops, USM-Gulf Park, Long Beach, Mississippi 39560, (phone: 864-2155)

Consumer specialist urges money management planning

BY NORINE BARNES
"MONEY TALK"

Most couples do not enjoy discussing money. Yet with the everinflating dollar it is necessary that families decide where they are going economically and how to reach their goals.

More income might be the answer to your problem but it isn't always. No matter how much you make, you are never going to have enough money for everything you want.

A money management plan helps you make better use of your money.

Making a money management plan doesn't top the list of "fun things to do." Learning to use the plan does take time and discipline but with practice it becomes easier and it does help stretch your dollars.

What do you want from your money? Maybe you want to enjoy the present or perhaps you want to save for the future. The important thing to realize is that buying one thing may mean giving up something else.

Set your own goals. It really doesn't matter how the Joneses spend their money. Consider short term and long range goals.

Short term goals may be to reduce debt load to an easy-to-handle amount, replace a refrigerator or buy a new car. Long range goals might be college education for children or retirement income.

Next, find out where you stand financially. List what you owe and the values of each possession.

What changes would you like to make? Do you need to make some changes in spending habits so you can increase your assets?

Don't overlook your personal resources as "helpers" in reaching goals.

Figure amount of spendable income available for one month. Spendable income is take-home pay. If you work on a commission or part-time, use an average annual income figure.

Next, add your total fixed expenses - rent, mortgage, car payment, insurance premiums, etc.

Be sure to include an estimate for social security and income tax if it is not withheld.

Then determine the amount necessary to live - food, utility bills, gas for the car, dental, etc. Keep a record of expenses for three months so you can get a clear picture of necessary living expenses.

A savings fund for emergencies should be a part of every good financial plan.

VA reports WW 1 vets eligibility

The Veterans Administration Regional Office in Los Angeles, recently completed what was termed "Project World War I," a program which can be applied in every other state, including Mississippi.

According to Mike Ladner veteran's service officer for Hancock County, this particular program involved contacting all of the World War I veterans in the area and determining whether they were in receipt of all VA benefits to which they were entitled.

Surprisingly, more than 40 percent of those contacted were assisted in obtaining increase in either pension or compensation benefits.

Among the group of 1,940 World War I veterans interviewed in the survey, 28 were eligible for the $3,800 automobile grant paid by the VA to those meeting the liberalized requirements due to service-connected disabilities.

A large number of World War I veterans are presently receiving no VA benefits, or may be entitled to increased benefits if they are assisted by a competent veterans service officer.

All veterans of World War I should contact their local Veterans Service Officer and determine whether they might be eligible for any benefits which they are not currently receiving.

Many of the older veterans are financially independent and have no desire to apply for any VA benefits. Others have depended upon the information and advice of persons who are not familiar with all of the VA programs, and are under the impression they are not entitled to any pension, compensation or other benefits.

Some are even unaware of their eligibility for admission to a VA hospital for needed medical care.

Every World War I veteran who has a question concerning possible entitlement to any benefits should visit his or her local Veterans Service Officer as soon as possible for counseling.

Borg-Warner executive named to European post

William F. Patient, featured speaker at the annual banquet of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce last December, has been named president of Borg-Warner Chemicals-Europe.

Patient succeeds George J. McNally, who was recently named executive vice president for Borg-Warner Chemicals-Worldwide.

Patient joined Borg-Warner Chemicals in 1962 as a product engineer, and has served in a number of technical, marketing and manufacturing positions, including his previous position of vice president-operations in North America.

He is a 1957 graduate of Washington University, St. Louis, where he earned a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering.

Patient is a member of the Society of Plastics Engineers and American Institute of Chemical Engineers. Patient and his family, who currently reside in Parkersburg, W. Va., will be moving to Brussels, Belgium.

Special Notice

The Gulf Coast Chapter of American Society of Women Accountants will conduct an annual audit of the Bay-Waveland Humane Society.

Humane Society President Emile Melandra of Waveland said the audit is being conducted for the society free of charge as a public service by the accountants' group.

ROBERT REDFORD

Robert Redford to chair National Wildlife Week

Robert Redford, environmental activist and film star, has been appointed honorary chairman of National Wildlife Week, to be observed from March 16 through 22.

More than 15 million students, teachers, and other conservation-minded citizens are expected to participate in Wildlife Week activities this year.

The National Wildlife Federation, the nation's largest nonprofit, conservation organization, will distribute 394,000 Education Kits, 65,000 Student Kits, and more than 1.3 million Wildlife Week posters to participants across the country and in Guam, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

"We are pleased and honored that Mr. Redford will join us in demonstrating the need to 'Save A Place For Wildlife,' the theme of this year's Wildlife Week," said Dr. Frederick R. Scroggin, a Dry Ridge, Ky., physician and president of the NWF, which has sponsored Wildlife Week since it was first proclaimed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1938.

"Time and again, Mr. Redford has shown and expressed his concern for the environment and for wildlife," Scroggin noted.

In recognition of this, last year the NWF Board of Directors named him an honorary vice president of the 4.1 million-member organization. This is the fourth consecutive year that Redford has served as honorary chairman. He also chaired the observance in 1971 and 1972.

As chairman, Redford will take time off from "Ordinary People," the movie he is currently directing, to narrate Wildlife Week public service announcements for television. These TV "spots" will be broadcast nationwide beginning in March, and will feature a grizzly bear filmed in its natural habitat. The spots explain how the grizzly, like so much of the nation's wildlife, is declining in numbers due to habitat destruction.

Redford, who has made more than 20 films, including the recently-released "The Electric Horseman," first became interested in conservation as an undergraduate at the University of Colorado, where he was an avid outdoorsman. Over the years, he has spoken out on a number of environmental issues, including the importance of solar power as an energy source.

He has recently been working with Secretary of the Interior Cecil D. Andrus on the possibility of establishing an institute to train experts in natural resource management. The Interior Department is conducting an $80,000 feasibility study on Redford's idea.

Accepting the Wildlife Week chairmanship, Redford stressed the importance of balancing the needs of wildlife with the needs of people. "If we are to continue to have a wildlife population in this country, then we must preserve and maintain adequate wildlife habitats — places where wild animals can find food, water, cover, and a place to raise their young," Redford said.

"We can meet our human needs for water, timber, oil and other natural resources without needlessly and recklessly destroying wildlife habitat. That is one of the great challenges of the 1980s — to meet our demands for resources without jeopardizing one of our greatest resources — our wildlife."

Redford lives with his wife Lola, also an ardent conservationist, and their three children in a solar-powered home in the Wasatch Mountains of Utah.

Baxter adapts Damien for Bay Little Theatre

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre on Boardman Avenue is now rehearsing their next seasonal play Damien. This play is an adaptation of Joseph Howard's screenplay Damien, Ormen II. It has been adapted for the stage by Hansel Baxter of Bay St. Louis.

This is Ms. Baxter's first endeavor as a director. She is, however, well known to local audiences having made her debut in a Fate Worse Than Death-Or Adrift on Life's Sea and then appearing in The Night of January 16th and The Lion in Winter at the Bay Little Theatre.

Ms. Baxter toured with the Ice Capades for several years and is currently a skating pro at the Lake Forrest Mall in New Orleans.

The play is being produced by local freelance artist Franya Frankiewicz.

In leading roles we find Andy Boudreaux as Damien and Tim Wesselman as his brother Michael Tyrone. This is Andy's first appearance at the Little Theatre. Tim was last seen in Finishing Touches at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre. Both attend St. Stanislaus where they have previously teamed in stage productions under the direction of Dan Griffon.

Linda Dorian plays Heddy Tyrone and is well remembered for her last role as Mrs. Gibbs in the Waveland Player's production of Our Town.

The role of Carl Tyrone, head of the Tyrone family, is played by Joe Etheridge, a newcomer to The Little Theatre.

Supporting cast includes Little Theatre veterans Loren Hoover, Richard Taylor, Dan Griffon and Jim Holmes. Also in supporting roles and MUW states

'W' Day
High School senior girls from throughout the state and region are being invited to the annual spring "W" Day at Mississippi University for Women March 29.

The annual event will feature faculty-staff rap sessions, campus tours and a variety of social and recreational activities. Information about the University will be provided for "W" Day guests.

Tours of various academic departments will be offered during "W" Day, and professors will be available to answer questions and provide information about their respective programs.

The "W" Day provide chartered buses at a minimal charge from Memphis, Tenn., and vicinity; from the Jackson and Natchez areas; from north Alabama and from Mobile, Ala., and the Mississippi Gulf Coast area. A van will be available for "W" Day guests from the New Orleans, La., area.

For more information, interested students should contact the Office of Admissions at M.U.W., Columbus, Miss. 39701 or call 328-5891.

USM financial aid deadline approaches

The Department of Financial Aid and Scholarships (FAS) at the University of Southern Mississippi reminds parents and students that the deadline for application for financial aid is March 15.

A toll free line, 1-800-222-1604, has been installed at USM to answer questions about the various aid programs available.

Recent changes in programs at USM has made assistance available to virtually all USM students. The Department now services over 70 percent of the student body amounting to over ten million dollars in aid programs.

Problem teenagers were handled in the old days

In these modern days we read and hear a lot about the problems with boys and girls. Back in the old days people were not so much bothered by such problems. Most parents back then kept their boys and girls so busy that they did not have time to become the serious problems that so many of them have become today.

But, as the old saying goes, "boys will be boys," and regardless of when and where they lived, disciplinary problems have always come up.

When a boy became unruly sixty to seventy years ago his father did not have the benefit of any guidance counselor, social worker, educated preacher or anyone else to ask for advice about what to do with his boy.

He had never even heard of any of these modern aids to parents nor had he read any of the new fangled books, on rearing children nor had he read any newspaper columns giving advice to parents on what to do with wayward boys nor had he attended any meetings to hear sociologists discuss teen age problems.

His only knowledge of raising children came from his own upbringing.

Since he was so totally ignorant of all this information considered so important today it is a wonder that he ever got his boys reared at all if you are to believe much of what you hear and read in these days.

The old time father's methods of bringing his boy to his senses would very likely not have met with the approval of the modern day Parent-Teacher organization or the new type of progressively educated teachers and modern preachers, but he got results with his way of handling his son.

If Sonny needed disciplining the father and the mother would have a serious talk about what to do but they did not consider offering him a new saddle for his pony if he would be a good boy.

It never entered their minds to offer him a trip to the circus if he would quit smoking cigarettes or a new suit if he would get up his lessons or a .22 rifle if he would mind his mother. These modern methods of child control were unheard of back in the good old days and I don't believe that our grandfathers and grandmothers would have thought much of these modern day solutions if they had heard of them.

As a general thing when discipline was required the boy would be called into the parents room for a serious talk with his father and mother. Father and son then went together out back of the barn where the boy got what he deserved and it was not a new saddle, circus trip, a suit or a rifle but a stout hickory switch vigorously applied to that part of his body which the Good Lord provided for that purpose.

After this was over the father gave his son full instructions on what his future conduct was to be and so clearly that the boy could not possibly misunderstand them. As a result the boy took renewed interest in his part of the work around the farm, he took greater interest in his school subjects and was a much better and more obedient boy from that time on.

I don't believe that this method of raising boys had yet been improved upon.

It is my belief that the solution to the teen age problem is a simple one - one that everybody can understand and apply. This solution is: Keep them busy!

In the country community where I grew up boys and girls - all of them - were kept so busy doing the work that they had little time to become problems of any kind.

The boys worked five and a half to six days a week on the farm year round. The girls were about as busy doing the cooking, the laundry, preserving food for winter, doing all the sewing, keeping the house and grounds clean, milking the cows and many other tasks around the house.

I often wonder if modern parents ever think of this simple solution to the problem of what to do with Johnny and Mary. Requiring that they do much more work - that they keep busy - is, I believe, the only practical solution to the problems of teen agers.

While it is easier to find plenty for children to do on a farm there are many worthwhile things that children can do regardless of where they live. There are literally thousands of good books in the public libraries for the reading pleasure and profit of all ages.

There are special study courses available. There are in these days year-round recreational programs almost everywhere for boys and girls. Because they keep boys busy with something to do is why I am strong for the YMCA, football, basketball, track and other athletic programs.

Another thing - back in the long ago people knew where their boys and girls were at all times - day and night. There was no such thing as running around at night over the country side.

If there was any running around at night it was done by the cat or the dog - not by the young folks which we have so much of today.

My grandchildren ask me, "What did you do, work all the time?" Or they ask, "What did you do with no television, no radio, no movie, no stereo, no car to ride in, no swimming pool at the 'Y', no library?"

I answer by saying that I would not swap my experiences in the woods, along the streams, through the fields and over the winding paths and roads of my boyhood for any or all modern experiences. Another thing, my parents provided their children with good books and encouraged us to read.

Many a time I've read almost the whole night through when I found a good book, like 'The Last of the Mohicans' for instance.

No don't get the idea that life in the old days was uninteresting or boring. It was far more interesting I am sure than the artificial, unrealistic, exaggerated and, I think, often degrading shows seen on television.

Things were much more simple in the old day. When I was a boy we looked forward to Saturday afternoon and to Sunday when we would be free to go fishing, hunting, or trapping these two days except the monthly Sunday preaching day. We were free also when it was too wet to work in the fields and at off seasons for work on the farm.

Our parents encouraged us in these wholesome recreations. What greater thrill is there for a boy than to go out and catch a good string of fish or bag a few squirrels or quail? There was no legal hunting or fishing season back then - we could go whenever we wanted to.

Even going to church could be considered a form of recreation as the monthly church meeting was the only thing in that community when people met up with one another and talked and visited. There would almost always be a good crowd at church.

I knew where every wild plum tree was in the general area where we lived and when the plums would be ripe. I knew where the best swimming holes were, where the trees with the biggest hickory nuts and walnuts were, where the biggest yields of wild grapes grew.

Many a time I have climbed to the tops of tall trees to get these luscious grapes. I knew where to find the sweetest and biggest muscadines, where the blueberries grew and when they got ripe in early spring. I watched for the big type huckleberries to get ripe and for the wild cherries to turn the right color in the fall. I knew where the best small, swift flowing stream was for flutter mills. We made and set bird traps, setting free the inedible ones and taking the others home.

We often met with other boys in a nearby pasture and played ball and other games. We never lacked for something to do or somewhere to go. Most of the time stream, woodland and fields were all beckoning at once to eager boys so that often we hardly knew which offered the most in adventure or fun.

Another sport for boys was to glide down a gently sloping hillside covered in pine straw on slick barrel staves. We would start at the top and by the time we reached the bottom we would be going at fantastic speeds.

Yes, when my grandchildren ask what I did without all the modern types of entertainment I can answer that I would not exchange them for my own boyhood pleasures.

And I repeat that I believe the solution to the teen age problem is to keep them busy and interested in what they are doing. This will require some time and effort on the part of parents as does anything else worth doing.

Take a break and call me.

Have you ever noticed how spring brings out the "farmer" in many Mississippians? Activity in the yard, on the farm, and at construction sites picks up as people take to the soil "just to do a little digging" here or there. Quite often the digging produces some unexpected results—one being a cut telephone cable.
South Central Bell puts cables underground to protect the cables and to help keep Mississippi communities beautiful. But we need the help of all "diggers" to protect those cables.
If you're a contractor, machine operator, or a homeowner planning to dig in your yard, please call our "Buried Cable Information" service before you dig. We'll tell you the location of the buried cable. If necessary, our cable locator will visit the site and mark the cable location for you—at no charge (48-hour notice requested).
One cut telephone cable can disrupt service for hundreds of customers—including you. The emergency work required to repair such damage can cost thousands of dollars, and the expense must be borne by the party responsible for the damage.
So, it just makes sense to consult the Call Guide section of your telephone directory and call the telephone "Buried Cable Information" service before you dig.
All Mississippi telephone customers presently share the costs of providing Directory Assistance—whether or not they ever use the service. It is included as part of the monthly rate for basic telephone service. Repricing of Directory Assistance means that costs can be more fairly distributed because those who use Directory Assistance most would pay more for it.
National Library Week will be observed throughout Mississippi April 13-19, and each community library has planned a full schedule of activities for local residents.
Visit your library often—it is one of your community's most valuable assets.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER REPORT

Cool wet weather is expected for Mississippi in March, according to the National Weather Service Outlook distributed by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

The monthly outlook calls for temperatures to average below normal with more precipitation than usual.

March is normally one of the wettest months, with an expected 4.5 to 5.5 inches of rain and melted snow. However, this year most farms may get more than 5 inches, say agrometeorologists at the Environmental Studies Service Center in Stoneville who prepare the forecasts. Farmers preparing fields may experience long delays; cool temperatures will slow drying.

Cattlemen may need to guard against cold stress, especially during rainy spells. Winter pastures grow well in late February. Additional growth in March will probably be slower than normal because of cloudy cool conditions.

Nights with freezing temperatures become less probable in March. Extreme south Mississippi may experience the last freezing temperature in early March. Freezing temperature in much of the Delta usually ends from the 15th through the 25th.

In the hill section of northeast and east-central Mississippi, the last freeze normally occurs between the 20th and 31st.

Poultry growers may face higher heating costs this March. As the length of days and nights becomes equal, a greater margin between high and low temperatures will occur. Frontal passages will require quick curtain adjustments.

(National Weather Service): It was quite cold early in week but pleasant temperatures returned during last few days.

Average temperatures for week were about 5 degrees cooler than usual for this time of the year in most counties.

Extremes ranged from 7 degrees at Tupelo, University and Iuka on Monday morning to 84 degrees at Waynesboro on Sunday afternoon.

Most of the rain occurred on Tuesday and during the weekend with totals ranging from less than 1/4 inch in some central counties to more than three inches at Aberdeen and Grenada. The greatest 24-hour amount reported was 3.27 at Grenada on Saturday.

CROP SUMMARY: Rain slowed land preparation. Where field conditions allowed, farmers were breaking land and top dressing winter wheat and pastures. Other activities included machinery repair, soil testing, and buying supplies. Livestock feeding continued in most areas.

Soil moisture was rated adequate to surplus. An average of 2.6 days was suitable for fieldwork compared to 4.6 days last week and 1.3 days for the same week last year.

About 20 percent of the acreage intended for spring planted crops had been plowed compared to 25 percent last year and 27 percent average.

Corn was three percent planted compared to two percent last year at this time.

Winter wheat acreage was four percent jointing compared to two percent jointing last year.

Hay and roughage supplies were rated adequate.

Feed Grain supplies were rated adequate to short.

Pasture condition was rated fair.

Livestock rated in fair to good condition.

Diesel, gasoline, and L. P. Gas supplies were adequate.

ARIES: (March 21 to April 19) — Also Aries Ascendant) — Time to begin a new routine you have planned. Others cooperate and you could be rewarded. Social life is happy and energetic. Vitality is high and your enthusiasm could lead you astray on a scheme involving money.

TAURUS: (April 20 to May 20) — Also Taurus Ascendant) — Opportunities are around you, so be alert! Business deals are favored as well as support of superiors or those in high places. Some Taurus could begin a whole new career. Just beware of being gullible.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 20) — Also Gemini Ascendant) — Emotional relationships should flow smoothly and working associates are cooperative. Use your own judgment and unusual creativity in career. Good time to join educational or artistic groups for social contacts.

CANCER: (June 21 to July 22) — Also Cancer Ascendant) — Contract matters entered into now should prove profitable. A new romance could enter your life if you're available. Finances appear good so you should have no money worries. Don't let work conflicts upset your home life.

LEO: (July 23 to Aug. 22) — Also Leo Ascendant) — Money matters could be upmost in your mind and a new, more conservative budget appears to be the best answer. Present your imaginative ideas to those in authority and gain the cooperation from career associates.

VIRGO: (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) — Also Virgo Ascendant) — Career and work matters are highly favored. Use your ingenuity and original ideas to their fullest. Past plans could come to fruition now and bring you positive attention. Good time to ask for that raise or promotion.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Also Libra Ascendant) — Business matters could be somewhat tricky, so use great care before signing contracts or papers. Be straightforward with family members and problems can be solved. Be willing to compromise and bend a little.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Also Scorpio Ascendant) — Keep your temper under control and disagreements can be worked out. Show your creative nature on the job and others could be impressed. Open up communications with your mate or partner in order to solve any problems.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Also Sagittarius Ascendant) — Use your own ideas but listen to the opinions of others for the greatest success. Romance is in the air and a new affair could be starting for those who are available. Watch your weight and don't over-indulge.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) — Also Capricorn Ascendant) — If feeling moody, get plenty of rest. A promotion could pass you by but something even better may appear. Money can be a problem and a source of disagreement between you and your mate or partner.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) — Also Aquarius Ascendant) — Things are looking up and your self-confidence can return. Others are cooperative and supportive so put your best foot forward. A successful business trip or a raise could be in store, so be alert to opportunities.

PISCES: (Feb. 19 to March 20) — Also Pisces Ascendant) — Depression lifts and your positive, creative, intuitive attitudes can be used to great advantage. Friends are helpful in your business and your ambition could be a real shot in the arm. Be discreet in romance.

Romance possible in practical realistic approach to marriage

A two-part workshop for couples that are newly married or couples planning to be married will be held at the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center in Gulfport Monday and Wednesday beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Entitled "Beginning Your Marriage," the program will be conducted by Jo Ellen Reid, and will also feature Jeff Bennett and Bill Kortman. The aim of the workshop is to help participants to develop fundamental communication skills, build intimacy, and prepare for the inevitable conflict that comes out of intimacy.

To take a practical, realistic approach, it is not necessary to rid the marriage of romance, according to Reid, workshop coordinator.

Her topic Monday night will be communication: the ability to express your own expectations, needs, and feelings and the ability to receive messages from your partner.

On Monday nights also, Bill Kortman will speak on money management: practical aspects and attitudes.

Reid's Wednesday evening topics are negotiating, problem solving and compromising. Jeff Bennett will discuss sexual expression in marriage and myths about sexual performance also on Wednesday.

Couples can participate in either workshop or both. There is a $3.00 fee for each participant, each workshop. For further information, call Joan Grantier at 863-1132, Ext. 242.

inflation-fighting tips

MONEY TALKS
By NORINE BARNES
Improving your shopping practices can help in coping with today's inflation. Learn to think and plan before spending money.

—Never shop without a list. A great deal of money is wasted on impulsive buying; —Make a shopping calendar for a year. Buy needed items when they are reduced for a seasonal sale;

—Ask yourself before buying - "Do I really need this?" "Is there anything else that I need more?"

—Switch to less expensive products; —Use "Cents Off" coupons when coupons are for those items that you would buy anyway;

—Return faulty items and register a complaint to the proper person in the proper manner;

—Is it possible to save 10-20 percent by using store brands instead of national advertised brands;

—Save up to 15 percent by comparing prices;

—Save up to 25 percent on promotional sales;

Save up to 18 percent on cosmetics by shopping specials and using less popular brands; and Save 10-18 percent by comparative shopping for new cars.

You can stretch the inflation dollar by being a better shopper.

Did St. Patrick ever eat corned beef and cabbage, really? I, along with many other Irish Americans, question this, because I've always understood that the salmon is the national dish of the Emerald Isle, according to my forbears.

None of our visiting relatives from the Old Sod ever requested corned beef and cabbage at table, and, as I recall, my grandmothers always served smoked salmon as the highlight of St. Patrick's Day feasting.

Irish playwright Brian Friel, when asked by his hosts in New York City during a visit to our country "What is really Irish to an Irishman - corned beef and cabbage?" replied "I have heard of it, though I would hardly call it our national dish - smoked salmon is."

And right he is, though many of us will be cooking corned beef and cabbage on St. Patrick's Day-but at our home there'll be a bit of smoked salmon on the menu as well.

I well remember my father's contention to the same end, when he would spin tales of Old Ireland and our ancestors to us as small children, and insist on salmon in the kitchen.

From Erin's earliest days, he would tell us, the salmon was prized as a great delicacy and starred at the banquets of the kinds of Old Ireland - often roasted whole on the spit, well rubbed with salt and honey, or slow-boiled in one of those huge pots of the Irish countryside.

So, even if you're cooking corned beef and cabbage on St. Patrick's Day, give your feast that special Irish touch with a tin of salmon, smoked or otherwise, served with crisp toast squares and a dribble of lemon atop.

And, for a fitting finale and salute to Ireland's patron saint, serve:

IRISH COFFEE

If you're using stemmed goblets, prepare the glass first by filling with hot water for a second or so, then pouring it out, or by standing a silver or other spoon in the glass, to prevent breaking.

For each serving, put one or two teaspoons or a dribble more - depending on your sweet tooth - into a glass or cup, about six ounce size, add enough satan-hot strong black coffee to dissolve the sugar, and stir well.

Add a generous jigger (1 1/2 oz.) whiskey, preferably Irish but bourbon will do, and fill the glass to within an inch of the brim with coffee.

Float a generous tablespoon of whipped cream atop...but don't mix the cream into the coffee, just sip the wonderfully whiskey-laced coffee through the cream.

You may omit the whiskey, but you won't get that good Irish glow, though it's still heavenly to sip the sweet, hot coffee through the chilly cloud of cream.

Gulfport sisterhood slates 50th anniversary

Chapter H of the P.E.O. Sisterhood met recently in the home of Mrs. J.P. Roberts, Wood Glen, Gulfport. Mrs. E.B. Bates acted as co-hostess.

Mrs. Roberts, chapter chaplain, presented the devotional, reading from Psalms 136:1-9.

It was announced that Chapter F will be the host chapter for the State Convention which will be held in Jackson on April 20-22.

Chapter B, Gulfport, will be celebrating its 50th anniversary March 15 with a tea at St. Peter's By the Sea Episcopal Church. Founders' Day will also be observed with a program.

President Mrs. W.R. Staples read her annual letter to the State President Mrs. W.E. French, stating accomplishments and happenings of the past year. Mrs. C.S. Putz, State Organizer, commended Mrs. Staples and the chapter on a "splendid year."

Mrs. W.W. VanSkiver presented the program entitled "Time for Friends." Weaving poetry and prose together in her inimitable fashion, and displaying framed samplers from her own home, she created a beautiful example of the joy and value of true friendship. Mrs. Muriel Sanders, representing Chapter P, Burlington, Iowa, was a guest.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. VanSkiver with Mrs. J.T. Long as co-hostess.

Discussion will center on how to make a will and why each person should make a will, and the place of insurance in the estate and what is meant by leaving your estate in trust.

ENERGY SAVING MEALS

If you're busy and budget conscious you can make good use of casseroles since many foods, from main dish to dessert, can be cooked in a casserole.

They are timesavers, in that they may be made up several hours ahead, placed in the refrigerator then put in the oven to bake when needed for a meal.

Many casseroles lend themselves well to freezing. Make up several, cook and serve one and store the others in the freezer for later use.

To conserve fuel energy, bake several casseroles at one time - one of meats a vegetable and a dessert.

There are many occasions when a casserole is the best choice for a meal. The convenience of the casserole, its "meal-in-a-dish" feature, its popularity as a way to use leftovers are all familiar advantages.

Sometimes in our zeal for the practical we may overlook the possibilities for making a casserole real gourmet fare. There are recipes planned for elegant party-type casseroles suitable for buffet entertaining. Subtly seasoned, interestingly flavored, a really good casserole can be a culinary achievement suitable for any occasion where you want to serve good food.

Casseroles are the perfect answer for busy homemakers and time-saving hostesses. Another advantage is if part of the family happens to be late for a meal the casserole remains in good condition with the heat suitably reduced.

Many foods can be used in casserole dishes. Choose those that look and taste well together and that your family likes. Use left-overs or planned-overs (when you've cooked extra foods to have some to use in later meals) for casserole dishes.

Casseroles consist basically of a protein food (meat, fish, poultry, cheese, eggs, dried beans) combined with a sauce, canned soup or other liquid.

Frequently a starchy food such as noodles, rice or potatoes is added making a little meat or other principal ingredient go a long way.

Good ingredients make a good casserole, but you can save pennies by selecting food appropriate for your use. Canned tomatoes to go into casseroles need not be fancy, or the most expensive.

Shape isn't important in most casserole recipes, so there's no need to pay for it. Grated tuna usually costs less than chunk-style, but the flavor is still the same.

Here are a few points for successful casseroles: Use foods that "go together" from the standpoint of flavor, texture and color; keep pieces of food in identifiable sizes and shapes; remember that the casserole will absorb some of the liquid during baking, so don't make the sauce too thick; try layers of food rather than stirring the ingredients as one mixture; use your imagination in seasoning - various herbs and spices; toppings - fluffy mashed potatoes, cooked rice, corn-brea batter, ready-to-bake biscuits or rolls, roasted almonds; investigate the variety of canned soups for added flavor and ease of preparation.

You don't need fancy recipes and menus for easy casseroles or oven meals. Just check up on foods in good supply selling at the most attractive prices at your market. Decide which ones you want - then it's merely a matter of combining.

Casserole recipes are not precise. It's up to the cook to add or subtract seasonings and other ingredients according to what the family prefers and what's on hand. Convenient packaged casserole mixes from market shelves offer a short cut and permit you to create your own special dish with the addition of ground beef, cooked cube meat, or hard cooked eggs.

During the days ahead and year round - enjoy lots of good eating from casserole dishes.

LUNCHEON VEGETABLE CASSEROLE

1 pkg frozen asparagus spears
1 pkg frozen whole kernel corn
1 pkg frozen green peas (English)
1 can cream of chicken soup (10 1/2 oz.)
1 teaspoon prepared mustard

2 hardcooked eggs, quartered
1 teaspoon salt

Arrange asparagus in a 1 1/2 quart saucepan or casserole. Add corn and peas in layers. Mix undiluted soup with mustard, one teaspoon salt, and pour over vegetables. Garnish with eggs and sprinkle with paprika.

Place saucepan in 350F. oven. Bake 20 minutes until heated throughout. Serves 6. Note: This dish may be prepared at least 4 hours ahead of baking time and kept in refrigerator.

If desired, it may also be frozen after it is baked and kept for several months. However, if you do freeze it, do not add the boiled eggs and paprika until it is thawed and warmed for table.

Supreme Court justice to speak at Ole Miss

The 1854 opening of the Law Department of the Law Department at The University of Mississippi was quiet and inauspicious. Seven students were enrolled and one professor taught all classes, using a few books from his own library.

In contrast, the March 22 dedication of the University's new L.Q.C. Lamar Law Center will be distinguished by an address by U.S. Supreme Court Justice Byron R. White. Most of today's nearly 600 law students and 27 full-time faculty members are expected to be in attendance, along with hundreds of Law School alumni, public officials and dignitaries of the legal profession.

Formal dedication ceremonies—which conclude three days of special activities—will begin at 10:30 a.m. in the Grove in front of the $5 million Law Center building. In case of rain, the location will be changed to Fulton Chapel. The ceremonies will also include dedication of the 120,000-volume James O. Eastland Law Library.

A public reception will be held on the first floor of the Law Center building after the dedication. Refreshments will be served at the informal gathering, which will be attended by the speakers, platform guests and other state, congressional and judicial dignitaries. Law students will be on hand to

Diamondhead ladies collecting for thrift shop

St. Vincent de Paul Society of Diamondhead ladies recently had their second meeting in the home of Mrs. Frank Fortier.

This group will be the collecting agent for their area for the Mother Boniface's Thrift Shop at the old Infant of Prague Church.

Mrs. Betty Necaise is the director of the shop open from noon to 5 p.m. on Friday and from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each Saturday.

Current members are Mesdames Frank Fortier, John Booth, Jerry Schultz, W.E. Anderson, Howard Coursey, Sidney Reggio, R.C. Alford, Walter Guilbault, Thomas Braud, and Sister Josepha.

The group meets the first Monday of each month. Anyone interested may call Mrs. John Booth at 255-1330.

Three local boxers win at DAV Hall

Stanley (Snakes) Christmas of the Bay-Klin-Waveland Boxing Club lost the main event bout Saturday in the first round when the referee stopped the fight and declared a TKO.

Christmas, 14, was fighting John Borman of Gulfport, an "older and more experienced boxer," according to Bay-Klin-Waveland Head Coach John Whisenhunt.

In the semi-main event, BKW Pugilist Todd Rooks lost a split decision against Jeff Cowart of the Ocean Springs Boxing Club.

"Cowart was warned about ducking twice, but Todd's two-fisted attack could not pull out a victory in the third round," Whisenhunt said.

Mike McClain of the BKW squad defeated Guy Allen of the Gulfport Boxing Club in the junior main event in three one-minute rounds.

"Mike kept Allen back-peddling from hard blows all through the fight. Mike, a two-handed boxer who has plenty of power in both hands, trapped his opponent in the corner several times in front of a crowd of 300 spectators," Whisenhunt said.

Whisenhunt said.

Making his boxing debut was Ronnie Peterson II against Kevin Frickey from Marrero, La.

"Ronnie did just great, keeping his hands high and a good boxing posture. Ronnie kept a cool head under the big lights as he blocked and ducked punches throughout the match," the coach said. Tracy Ainsworth boxed an exhibition match against Keith Magguar.

"Tracy's left jab looked very impressive in the match. Each boxer was awarded a trophy for sportsmanship," Whisenhunt said.

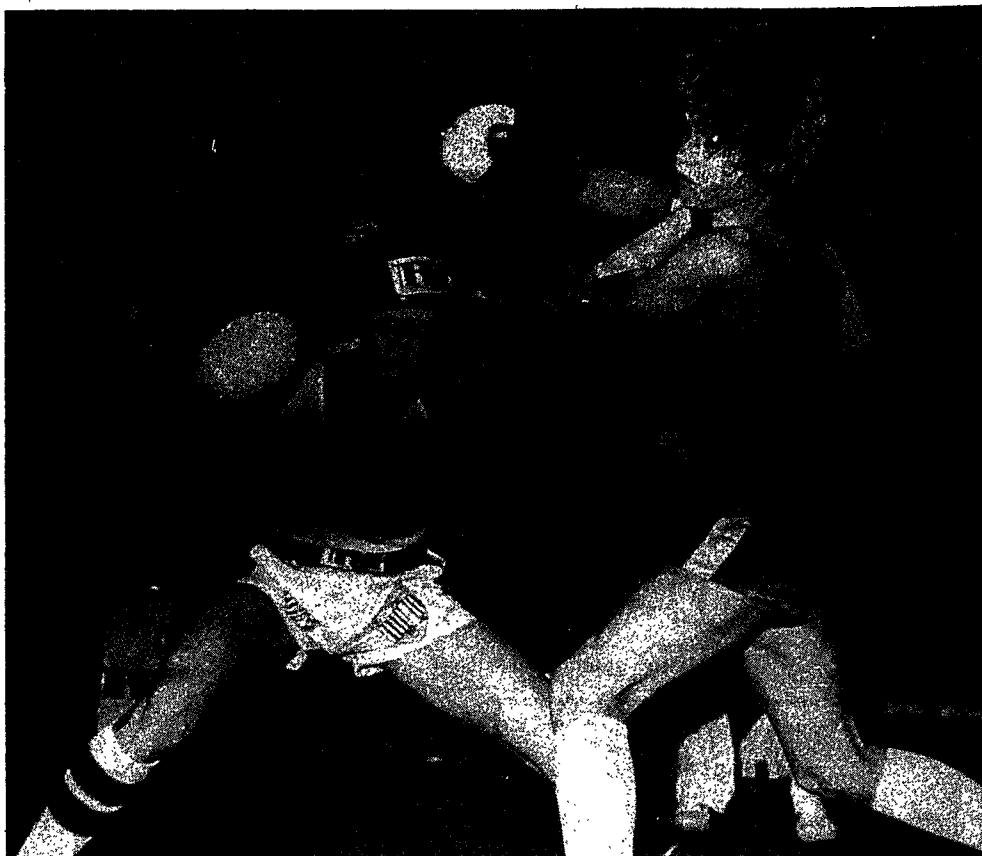

Shane Kowalska, a nine-year-old, 56-pounder, "looked super-sharp" against Jay Ladner in a bout.

"Making his debut in the exhibition match, Shane will turn 10 this week and will be fighting with the rest of the club in the Coast Coliseum in April and the Junior Olympics in May. He has all the tools to become a fine boxer," Whisenhunt commented.

Earl (Secret Weapon) Ainsworth remained undefeated as he defeated Billy Frickey of the Marrero Club. "No doubt about it, Frickey is a tough cookie, but it was Earl's glove that gave him all the trouble. Earl's neck-snapping left jab enabled him to keep his opponent at bay while his combinations found their mark often," the head coach said.

Unable to obtain a match were Chris Whisenhunt, Jack Perry, and Shane Whisenhunt.

COAST'S BOXING AMBASSADORS - Representatives of Mississippi Gulf Coast and South Louisiana boxing clubs are slated to participate in the Golden Gloves Mid-South Tournament in Jackson, Tenn. this weekend and in the Gulf States Invitational Boxing Tournament April 25-27 in the Coast Coliseum in Biloxi. They include Greg Delong, Timmy Smith, Raymond White and Joe Pavolini who will be in Tennessee this weekend; and Ronnie Flowers, Ricky Derouen, John Borman, Robert Kelly, Krisle Banks, Herbie Bivalaca, Shawn Nigues and Sam Schoonmaker, who were all victorious in a recent state tournament in Cleveland and who now move up to the Gulf States event in April. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

DOCTOR OF THE YEAR - Dr. M. J. Wolfe, right, of Bay St. Louis receives a citation from Hancock County Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson Saturday at a Bay-Klin-Waveland Boxing Club event at the Disabled American Veterans Hall in Bay St. Louis. Peterson presented the plaque on behalf of the boxing club and the Southern Amateur Athletic Union naming Dr. Wolfe 'Doctor of the Year' on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. AAU rules require a physician be at ringside during all bouts, and that each fighter be given a physical examination prior to his match. Without Dr. Wolfe's generous donation of his services, the boxing programs in Hancock County would not be possible, according to the local coaches John Whisenhunt and Harvey Mitchell. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Boxing Club during an exhibition match on Saturday night's DAV card in Bay St. Louis. Peterson's first fight against Frickey, a five-fight veteran, was declared a draw by the judges. GOING DOWN-Joe Louis Goodman, left, fighting unattached out of Pearlinton, follows through with a right hook which sends Doyle Cooley of Hattiesburg to the canvas. The two pugilists slugged it out during a three-round amateur boxing match, part of a 23 card match Saturday sponsored by the Bay-

Klin-Waveland Boxing Club and the Disabled American Veterans Chapter 50 in Bay St. Louis. Goodman put on a fine performance in winning the decision over the Hattiesburg pugilist. (Staff photo-Edgar Perez)

SHELLY STEWART AND MARY ALICE BENVENUTI

Shelly Stewart named OLA 1980 Star Student

BY GWEN FAVRE
OLA Journalist

Our Lady's Academy senior, Shelly Stewart, has been selected Star Student at her school by the Mississippi Economics Council's Teacher Achievement Recognition Program.

The selection was based on Ms. Stewart's high scholastic average for the first semester and her score on the American College Test.

Ms. Stewart, ask to choose the teacher who made the greatest contribution to her scholastic achievement, designated Mrs. Mary Alice Benvenuti, her psychology teacher, as this year's Star Teacher.

Shelly, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W.K. Stewart of Pass Christian, is an Alpha Honor Roll student, senior class treasurer, a member of National Honor Society, French Honor Society, and has been a member of Who's Who Among American High School Students for the past three years.

She plans to attend the University of Mississippi where she will begin her studies toward a PhD in psychology.

Mrs. Benvenuti of Bay St. Louis has been teaching English, social studies, and psychology for 23 years. She graduated from the University of Mississippi with a BA degree.

Mrs. Benvenuti is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Taylor Shrouds of Gulfport.

ETV

Four special programs highlight the Mississippi ETV schedule this week. "The Dukes of Dixieland," "A Special Celebration with Steve Allen," "James Michener's World," and William Faulkner's "Barn Burning," which was filmed in Mississippi, are the top billings.

Two of the programs—"The Dukes of Dixieland" and "A Special Celebration with Steve Allen"—are Festival '80 presentations. Festival '80 is a period of special programming designed to increase viewer awareness of public television.

At 7 p.m., Saturday, March 15, "The Dukes of Dixieland" perform their own authentic Dixieland jazz straight out of their own native New Orleans with the 55-piece New Orleans Pop Orchestra.

At 9 p.m., Sunday, March 16, "A Special Celebration with Steve Allen" includes Don Knotts, Louis Nye, Tom Poston, Bill Dana, Pat Harrington, Hal Linden, Pearl Bailey, Victor Borge, Julia Child, Stan Freberg and the Mormon Tabernacle Choir.

A study of athletic participation by blacks, women and children is the basis of a three-part, monthly mini-series, "James Michener's World: Sports in America," beginning at 8 p.m., Monday, March 17. The first program, "The Black Athlete," includes footage of early black sports heroes such as Jack Johnson and Joe Louis and also examines the plight of college black athletes and the allegation that their schools place academic training secondary to their athletic achievement.

William Faulkner's "Barn Burning," starring Tommy Lee Jones and a host of Mississippi extras, will be presented on public television's "The American Short Story" series at 9 p.m., Monday, March 17. Also presented during the 90-minute program will be the short story, "The Man Who Corrupted Hadleyburg" by Mark Twain.

Agriculture Today

by Ed Curran
U.S. Department of Agriculture

Is there any connection between food prices consumers pay and farm prices? Well, certainly not as much as there used to be.

Take the outlook for 1980 for example. Economists are saying that consumers had better look forward to food price increases of from 8 to 11 percent. This, on top of increases to 10½ percent in 1978 and 11 percent in 1979.

Those same economists are also saying that farmers had better get ready for generally lower prices, higher production costs and farm income that will be from 11 to 20 percent lower in 1980.

The reason has to do with marketing costs in general and the labor cost segment of those marketing costs in particular. For the past few years, the cost of processing and marketing food has become the major component of retail food prices, accounting for 60 percent of the retail product value. Of course, the situation varies according to the products. For cereals and bakery products, for example, they account for more than 80 percent of the final retail price. At the same time, they account for only 35 percent for the consumers' cost of eggs.

But, the biggest chunk is taken by labor costs—those involved after the product leaves the farm. Labor costs account for nearly half of all marketing costs. Fact is, labor costs account for just about a third of the farm produced food expenditure bill. Farmers also get a third of the over-all cost.

Now, let's take a closer look at the relationship between farm prices and retail prices of food. Though food prices jumped nearly 15 percent in 1974, the farm value of that food accounted for less than 3 percent of that jump, marketing costs accounted for nearly 10 percent of it.

Farm value accounted for less than 2 percent, marketing costs more than 4½ percent of an 8.3 percent food price rise in 1975. Farm value of foods fell off more than 1½ percent in 1976. But, food prices still went up more than 2 percent that year, thanks to a 2½ percent increase in marketing costs. In 1979, farm value accounted for 3.8 percent of the 11 percent rise in retail food prices, marketing costs accounted for 6 percent of it.

And, in 1980: The economists say farm value will account for less than one half of 1 percent of the boost to come. Marketing costs will account for 6 percent of it. And, that's the minimum.

HOUSE PLAN

Plan No. 261

This lovely country home is entered from the front porch into the great room, which has a fireplace situated on the right wall. Located to the rear are the kitchen and dining areas, which have convenient access to the back yard. The garage is accessible through the dining area.

The quiet end of the home has exceptionally large bedrooms for this size structure. The master bedroom has a closet along an entire wall and a private bath. Both baths have vanities.

This home, design number 261, has 1,222 square feet of living space and 338 square feet in garage and storage. The exterior has vertical and horizontal siding, and the posts on the front porch have attractive brackets.

Complete blueprints are available from E. A. Myers, residential designer, 1400 Scott Boulevard, Decatur, Georgia 30030. This plan appears in the sixth edition of the company's plan book.

ALCAN MANAGER-E. Alan McCaslin, Alcan Cable's Bay St. Louis plant manager, welcomes guests to plant dedication ceremonies Friday. Governor William Winter was special guest for the ceremonies also attended by Alcan officials from throughout the United States and Canada. Alcan Cable manufactures 600-volt underground aluminum cable in the new Bay St. Louis industry. The plant presently employs 47 and is one of the most modernized, automated and unique in the cable industry, according to Alcan spokesmen. (Staff photo-Ellis Cuevas).

VA News

Q - I was notified that I was entitled to VA compensation 11 months ago and I waived a portion of my retired pay. Will I be taxed the full amount of retired pay for the past year?

A - No. You will be taxed only on the retired pay that exceeds the compensation to which you were entitled.

Q - When the Modified Life Plan insurance coverage reduces by one-half at age 65 or 70, is additional life insurance available?

A - The insured may continue the full amount of Modified Life insurance by replacing the decreased amount with an Ordinary Life policy. An additional premium must be paid for the Special Ordinary Life policy.

TENN-TOM POLITICS

By Ed Blake

Funny how easy it is to become confused.

This writer was among a sizeable press corps that attended an announcement meeting in Columbus last week regarding rural development incentives proposed by President Carter along the construction course of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway.

Farm Bureau is an avid supporter of the waterway for purposes of improved and lower cost transportation of agricultural inputs and output. So I was there. So were high state officials, an impressive array of federal bureaucrats, and northeast Mississippi county and municipal officials. The public nearly overflowed the spacious Whitfield Hall auditorium on the campus of Mississippi University for Women.

Presidential Assistant Jack Watson presided and announced that the Tenn-Tom is one of four federally funded projects around the country chosen to demonstrate how the investment "will result in tangible and lasting benefits for residents and communities in the project area."

Ironically or not, the announcement in Columbus came only a week ahead of the Alabama presidential primary and less than two weeks before Mississippi's March 15 Democratic precinct caucuses.

Watson told the group that the Tenn-Tom "demonstration" has the following goals. First, to maximize project-related jobs for local and minority residents. Next, it would encourage procurement of project-related goods and services from the area's small and minority businesses. No explanation was offered of what constituted the area's small and minority businesses nor why equal employment opportunities are not to be offered to medium sized or larger businesses or non-minority businesses.

Thirdly, the project is to expand economic activity and new private sector investments in the area. And lastly, it is to provide adequate community services and facilities for the project workers and existing communities.

Watson said that labor costs are about 40 percent of the total construction cost of the $1.8 billion project - now 40 percent complete. He predicted that over 1,800 construction workers would be hired on the project during 1981. He said the project's common goal is to assure that at least 80 percent of the Tenn-Tom construction jobs go to local residents and that 30 percent of those jobs go to minority workers.

The aide said the project coordinators will work closely with state and local governments to organize aggressive efforts to recruit local residents - especially minorities, women, and the economically disadvantaged - for training and job placement.

Jobs mentioned in connection with job training programs included ironworkers, electricians, cement workers, carpenters, plumbers and pipefitters, truck drivers, laborers, and others. The demonstration, Watson said, will also provide training opportunities and technical and management assistance for small business owners and managers. The goal is to help local firms secure architecture and engineering contracts and sub-contracts and to become the suppliers of many of the goods and services. The government would seek to provide necessary bonding assistance and other forms of financial assistance. It would strengthen local financing mechanisms, perhaps through the establishment of a small business investment corporation or a minority enterprise small business investment corporation in the area.

To pull it all off, the President has directed numerous federal community and economic development agencies into the political porridge including DOL, EDA, FMHA, HUD, EPA, SBA, DOE, DOT, CSA, MBDA, and others.

But this writer remains confused over the announced rural development aspects. I had visions of newly inspired agricultural cooperative shipping facilities with incentive interest rates, or imaginative agri-business enterprises flanking the waterway regardless of ownership. These types of private enterprises were not included in the Columbus format. And somewhere along the line the farm vote was forgotten.

City-County Library list new selections

Well, March has certainly come in like a lion! Let's hope that it soon goes out like a lamb. In the meantime, while you're waiting for your pipes to thaw out, why not read one of the new books available at any of the branches of the Hancock County Library System:

FIVE FOR SORROW, TEN FOR JOY by Rumer Godden. The story of a girl who becomes a nun after a life as a whore and a convicted murderer. A lovely, shining novel in the true Godden style.

MOVIOLA by Garson Kanin. The ultimate Hollywood novel, encompassing the whole dazzling story of the movie business, from its beginnings, with a glittering cast of characters that includes almost every famous name and star in Hollywood history.

JAMBEAUX by Laurence Gonzales. A fast-paced and affecting novel, with an insider's look at one of the most influential subcultures of our time, that of rock and role music.

THE CROSSING by Christopher Keane. The setting: A Liberty ship sailing from Antwerp to New York in 1945, with a full complement of returning soldiers. The vent: The biggest winner-take-all poker game (5-card stud) of World War II. The stakes: 500,000 if anyone can stay alive to collect it.

HOLLYWOOD GOTHIC by Thomas Gifford. A spine-tingling odyssey through the dark side of Hollywood, a nightmare world of corruption and violence, where a man can get killed searching for the truth.

THE TIMES OF MY LIFE by Betty Ford. The portrait of a fascinating American heroine-one of the most admired women of our time.

HOKULE'A: THE WAY TO TAHITI by Ben R. Finney. The story of a daring voyage in 1976 of a dedicated group on an outrigger canoe from Hawaii to Tahiti and back.

AUNT ERMA'S COPE BOOK by Erma Bombeck.

This tells the moving story of how one woman survived the pursuit of happiness-until the self-help books arrived. Inspired by the Cope-of-the-Month-Club-Guild, Erma decides to become the best, the sexiest, the smartest, the healthiest, the happiest, and the thinnest. One of her most hilarious books yet.

DRUNK BEFORE NOON by Ken Hoyt and Frances Spatz Leighton. Two inside observers of the Washington scene team up to tell the whole big, brash, brawling, behind-the-scenes story of that glamorous, colorful, exclusive fraternity of men and women who comprise the Washington Press Corps.

CHARITY U.S.A. by Carl Bakal. Charity in America is a $100 billion-a-year industry, employing five percent of the American work force, and using the services of at least 55 million volunteers. Yet this industry, in spite of its tax-free status, is virtually unregulated and the American people know very little about what happens to the more than $100 million which they give each day to charity.

CANCER Answerline

American Cancer Society

A regular feature, prepared by the American Cancer Society, to keep you informed about cancer.

Question: "I've heard that all these anti-smoking programs don't do any good. People are going to smoke if they want to."

ANSWERline: People can smoke if they want to, of course, but the fact is that these programs to educate the public on the hazards of smoking are working. A new report by the U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates that the use of tobacco in 1979 was 7.91 pounds per capita, down from 8.28 in 1978. This projected level is the lowest since 1933. There is data now showing that throughout the country, 30 million smokers have quit the habit since 1964, and about one billion fewer cigarettes were smoked in 1978 than in 1977. Teenage smoking, which had taken a sharp upturn, is now on the decline: a government study shows a 25 percent drop since 1974. In addition to changing smoking habits, there are an increasing number of local laws restricting smoking in public places, and the tar content in cigarettes is less than half what it was in the 1950's.

Question: "Is it true that the procto exam can spot most colon-rectum cancers?"

ANSWERline: It was true that 75 percent of colon-rectum cancers were within reach of the proctoscope, but no longer. Now, more and more cancers are occurring beyond the reach of this instrument, making it especially important for everyone over age 40 to test for hidden blood in the stool. Guaiac slides make this very simple, and help detect colorectal cancer still in an early, curable stage. A more detailed examination, which may be recommended if there are indications of intestinal problems, is colonoscopy. This Question: "Why can't everyone with cancer get some of this new cancer drug, interferon?"

ANSWERline: Interferon does seem to be very promising for cancer treatment, but its use is still very experimental. One of the main problems is its availability. Interferon is not technically a drug, but rather a natural body substance that works as part of the immune system. The current method for extracting interferon for medical use yields a very small amount from a very large quantity of blood components. Unlike some other substances, interferon is species specific—that is, only human interferon will work on humans. It is hoped that in the future if experiments prove interferon to be valuable as a cancer treatment, it can be synthesized and produced more inexpensively on a mass scale. The interferon research program of the American Cancer Society initially involved less than 150 patients at a cost of some $2 million.
